CULTURE MINISTRY LOOKING INTO RAM SETU: CENTRE TO SC

The Centre told the Supreme Court that the process to declare Ram Setu as a national heritage monument is underway

SWAMY TURNS DOWN COURT'S SUGGESTION

Following the Centre's submission on Thursday, a bench comprising Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud and Justice J B Pardiwala, which was hearing a PIL by BJP's Subramanian Swamy, suggested he could make a representation to the government if he wished so. Swamy said: "I do not want to meet anybody... We are in the same party, it was there in our manifesto..."

IT'S A SIMPLE 'YES' OR 'NO' QUESTION

- "They (govt) have to say 'yes' or 'no'," Swamy added. Solicitor general Tushar Mehta said the government is looking into it

Sunak defends Modi against BBC's TV series

Snubs Pak-origin MP; MEA pushes back too

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

BRITISH Prime Minister Rishi Sunak on Thursday defended his Indian counterpart Narendra Modi in the UK Parliament over a recent BBC documentary titled 'India: The Modi Question.'

Sunak also snubbed Pakistan-origin Labour Party MP, Imran Hussain, who asked if he agreed with claims in the BBC show that some UK foreign office diplomats believed that "Modi was directly responsible" for the 2002 riots in Gujarat. "The country doesn't tolerate persecution where it appears anywhere. The UK government's position on this has been clear and long-standing and hasn't changed, but I am not sure I agree at all with the characterisation the gentleman has put forward to,'' Sunak said.

The documentary aired by BBC Two on January 17 sparked outrage in India. It has since been removed from Youtube and its second part is scheduled to be broadcast on January 24.

"This has not been screened in India, so I am only going to comment in the context of what I have heard about it and what my colleagues have seen. Let me just make it very clear that we think this is a propaganda piece designed to push a particular discredited narrative. The bias, the lack of objectivity and frankly a continuing colonial mindset is blatantly visible," said Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Arindam Bagchi.

This film is a reflection on the agency and individuals that are peddling this narrative, he said. The documentary has an interview by former British foreign secretary Jack Straw. In 2015, during a sting operation, Straw boasted to undercover journalists that he had operated 'under the radar' to use his influence and change EU rules on behalf of a firm that paid him £60,000 a year.

In his pushback, former Indian foreign secretary Kanwal Sibal said, "I was FS during the period and am aware of mischief by UK mission."

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday launched projects worth over ₹10,800 crore in the Kalyana Karnataka region and handed over property title deeds to people from the Banjara community, adding heft to BJP's development push ahead of the state Assembly polls.

In his second visit to Karnataka within a week, the PM emphasised the "double-engine government" push for the development and welfare of people and hit out at the opposition for neglecting development by indulging in vote-bank politics. "The focus of the double-engine government on infrastructure and reforms is turning Karnataka into an investors' choice," the PM said after launching projects including the Extension, Renovation and Modernisation Project (ENMP) of Narayanpur Left Bank Canal at Kodekal of Yadgir district.

Later in the day, at a programme in Malkhed of Kalaburagi district, he initiated the distribution of Hakku Patras (property title deeds) to 51,900 people of the Banjara community, which is a significant number, and registered in the World Book of Records. In Kodekal and Malkhed, the PM slammed the opposition parties that were in power earlier, for treating Dalits, suppressed classes and the Banjara community as vote banks, and not working for their welfare. SC collegium again reiterates 5 names

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

AMIDST the ping-pong battle between the judiciary and the executive on reiterations for elevation as judges, the Supreme Court collegium in its resolutions uploaded on Thursday again reiterated five names of advocates for judgeship in different high courts. The five names are Saurabh Kirpal, son of former CJI B N Kirpal (for Delhi High Court); Amitesh Banerjee and Sakya Sen (Calcutta High Court); Somasekhar Sundaresan (Bombay High Court) and R John Sathyan (Madras High Court).

Saurabh Kirpal, who is openly gay, was first recommended by the Delhi HC collegium in 2017. His elevation was objected to by the Centre due to the Swiss nationality of his partner as well as his intimate relationship and openness about his sexual orientation.

Rejecting them, the SC collegium's resolution said, "The fact that Mr Saurabh Kirpal has been open about his orientation is a matter which goes to his credit. As a prospective candidate for judgeship, he has not been surreptitious about his orientation. In view of the constitutionally recognized rights which the candidature espouses, it would be manifestly contrary to the constitutional principles laid down by the Supreme Court to reject his candidature on that ground." "LG sahib is requested to leave politics for a few days and focus on law and order," Delhi Chief Minister Kejriwal said, taking a swipe at Lt Guv V K Saxena

UJWAL JALALI @ New Delhi

OUT on inspection to check the dark spots of the national capital at night, the city's women's commission chief herself allegedly became the victim of molestation in the wee hours of Thursday.

Swati Maliwal, chairperson of Delhi Commission for Women (DCW), on Thursday alleged that she was molested by a drunk man and was dragged by his car for 10-15 metres outside AIIMS with her hand stuck in the vehicle's window.

"We received a PCR call at 3.10 am by a special patrolling vehicle that a car had dragged a woman for some distance near AIIMS hospital's gate number 2," Deputy Commissioner of Police (south) Chandan Chowdhary said.

The official said that a man, in an inebriated condition, had stopped his car next to Maliwal and invited her to sit in the car. When Maliwal refused, he left, only to return within minutes and pester her again to get into his car.

Maliwal alleged that the man, identified as Harish Chandra (47), a resident of Sangam Vihar, was also making lewd and vulgar gestures.

When Maliwal tried to catch hold of him, the accused rolled up the window and the DCW chief's hand got stuck.

The man then hit the accelerator and Maliwal was dragged along with the car for 10-15 metres, by which time she fortunately managed to wriggle out her hand. The police apprehended the accused by 3.34 am, informed DCP Chowdhary.

HC: JAIL TERM CAN'T BE REDUCED UNDER POCSO ACT

Strikes down special court's order in a 2015 case that reduced imprisonment to five years instead of seven

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

STRIKING down a special court's order, the Karnataka High Court increased the jail term from five years to seven years for an accused under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (Pocso) Act. The high court said that the special court doesn't have the power to reduce the minimum sentence prescribed in the statute.

Justice V Srishananda passed the order while allowing an appeal filed by the state government which questioned the order passed by the special court.

In 2015, the special court had sentenced accused Shaik Rouf of Bhalki taluk in Bidar district to five years imprisonment instead of imposing a minimum of seven years of punishment.

"It is a settled principle of law and requires no emphasis that when a statute prescribes minimum sentence, the trial judge or the appellate judge has no discretion whatsoever to reduce the minimum sentence prescribed by the statute", the high court observed.

"The accused shall surrender before the special court on or before January 31, 2023. In the event of the accused failing to surrender to serve the balance period of sentence, the special court is at liberty to issue a modified conviction warrant and secure the presence of the accused for serving the remaining part of the sentence", the high court said in its order passed recently. The accused was chargesheeted for an offence punishable under Section 376 of IPC and Section 4 of the Act. The special court sentenced the accused to undergo simple imprisonment for five years and imposed a fine of Rs 2,000 and said both sentences should run concurrently.

Aggrieved by the order, the State Government filed an appeal before the high court, contending that the approach of the special court in sentencing the accused for five years is illegal.

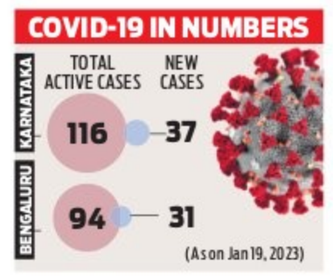
Don't worry, TAC on Covid in K'taka

AKNISREE KARTHIK @ Bengaluru:



THERE is no cause for alarm in the Covid-19 situation in Karnataka. The positivity rate, hospitalisation and death rate are very low, Karnataka's Covid-19 Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) said, after analysing Covid data of the past 15 days from across the state, including BBMP limits.

However, TAC will continue to monitor how the Covid situation evolves in the state in the coming weeks.

Dr MK Sudarshan, chairman of the Covid-19 Technical Advisory Committee (TAC), said, "Based on the analysis of Covid data from January 1 to 15, the situation in the state is fairly good and there is nothing to worry about. The number of new cases, test positivity rate, hospitalization and death rate have remained low. These are the main parameters that will let us know if there is something startling."

The total positivity rate for the past 15 days was 0.3 to 0.4 per cent, and no death was reported, except that of a 65-year-old woman from Koppal on January 17, he said.

The positivity rate of international passengers screened on arrival at Bengaluru and Mangaluru airports, too, is 10 per cent. The test positivity rate is around 0.3 per cent at airports. Samples of positive patients have been sent for genomic sequencing and results are awaited to check if there is any variant of concern. All variants detected till now in the state are part of the Omicron family, he said.

However, we will watch out and keep monitoring the daily cases reported, to check if there is any sudden spike, he said.

On special vaccination camps that will be organised to administer booster doses, Dr Sudarshan said they should focus primarily on the elderly and high-risk groups like the ones on dialysis, with liver disease, cancer and comorbid conditions.

Three sisters die by suicide, 21 days after granny's death

ENS @ Tumakuru

THREE young sisters were found hanging in their house in Barakanahalli Lambani tanda in Chikkanayakanahalli taluk on Thursday. Ranjitha (24), Bindu (21) and Chandana (18) may have died by suicide on January 11, and the tragedy came to light only on Thursday, after a stench started emanating from the house.

They had lost their parents a decade ago, and grew up under the care of their grandmother, who died around 21 days ago.

"Since they were attached to their grandmother, her death may have pushed them into depression. There was a marriage proposal for the two older sisters," police said. The three sisters were employed at a garment factory at KB Cross, and the eldest had quit her job recently.

Huliyaru police registered a case. Tiptur ASP Siddhartha Goyal and Chikkanayakahalli inspector Nirmala visited the spot.

Man murdered over hot water at deaddiction centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 33-year-old man, who was admitted to a deaddiction centre, was allegedly murdered by the staff, who cooked up a suicide story. Yelahanka New Town police arrested two persons in this connection.

The deceased was identified as Arif Nawaz Khan, a resident of KG Halli and a tender coconut vendor. Police arrested Ravi and Lohith, who work at the deaddiction centre.

The police said Khan was a drug addict and his family members had admitted him to Sri Sai Rehabilitation Centre in Veerasagara, near Yelahanka, on January 11. On Thursday morning, Ravi and Lohith brought Khan's body to Yelahanka Government Hospital, and narrated a story that he had committed suicide.

"However, the doctors got suspicious as there were injury marks on the bodies, and informed police. The two workers were taken into custody and they confessed to having murdered Khan. They revealed that Khan was demanding hot water to take a bath, and there was an argument over it for the past few days. On Thursday morning too, he demanded hot water and this led to a fight between him and the accused, who attacked him with an iron rod and murdered him," the police added.

Vrishabhavathi water to be lifted to fill 83 tanks

243 MLD of treated water to be lifted; six pumps to be installed; project to be completed in 36 months

MOHAMMED YACOOB
@ Bengaluru

THE minor irrigation department (MID) has drawn up a plan to lift treated waste water flowing through Vrishabhavathi, and fill 83 lakes in Bengaluru Urban, Bengaluru Rural and Tumakuru districts. The project is on the lines of the Koramangala-Challaghatta Valley which is filling up over 100 tanks in Kolar district.

MID has floated tenders for the project, worth Rs 865 crore, which will start in two-and-half months and be completed within three years.

MID secretary C Mruthyunjaya Swamy said that under the lift irrigation project of Vrishabhavathi valley, treated water from Nayandahalli Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) will be pumped to Veeranjanipura tank (Nelamangala) and 82 other lakes -- 10 in Bengaluru Urban, 49 in Bengaluru Rural and 23 in and around Tumakuru.

Srinivas Reddy, executive engineer, MID, said once the project becomes operational, 243 million litres per day (MLD) of treated water will be lifted. "An 85-km pipeline will be laid and 15 MLD water supplied to Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board (KIADB) in Dobbaspete. The idea is to improve groundwater level in Bengaluru North, Bengaluru Rural and Tumakuru through this project," he said.

Reddy stated that after the tender process, due to a request from MLAs to Law Minister J Madhuswamy, water will be supplied to 14 more tanks, taking the tally to 97 tanks in Phase 1.

Reddy added that six 3,405 HP capacity pumps will be installed. Four pumps will be operational and two will be on standby, and will operate for 16 hours a day.

"As per tender conditions, the project will have to be completed in 36 months, with a five-year maintenance period," said Reddy.

BWSSB chief engineer Devaraju M stated the board has a 150MLD capacity STP unit at Nayandahalli, and 120 MLD of waste water is being treated and released to Vrishabhavathi Valley through storm water drain channels. At Mylsandara, the STP is treating 75MLD of waste water and diverting it to Vrishabhavathi Valley.

Another BWSSB official said the Board will also commence work on a 750 MLD STP unit in its jurisdiction, and some water could also be diverted to Vrishabhavathi Valley lift irrigation for the 243 MLD water pumping project.

NEP to be implemented in state anganwadis in February, says Nagesh

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA School Education and Literacy Minister BC Nagesh said that the National Education Policy 2020 (NEP) will be implemented in the school education system as early as February in around 400 to 500 selected schools across the state.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, sources in the department said that the implementation will be limited to Early Childhood Care and Education (ECCE).

"Implementation will not be in a big way at this stage. It will be limited only to Anganwadis and nurseries, where teachers will be switching to more activity-based learning and play learning as mentioned in the NEP. The department is currently finalising necessary changes to be made in the syllabus. Since it is ECCE, the changes are limited to syllabus and teaching method of teachers as there are no textbooks for younger students," they said.

"We are awaiting approval from the Central government, following which we will have a launch event in February," sources added.

Earlier, Nagesh had promised that the implementation of NEP would take place within this academic year in a phased manner. While he had mentioned that as many as 20,000 Anganwadis would be switching over to the NEP curriculum, he has now said that the NEP implementation would be limited only to selected schools. He also said that the process of training teachers and caretakers at Anganwadis is under way.

The minister also said that the recruitment process of teachers was getting delayed as the issue was in court. Speaking to reporters, he said that the next court hearing would take place in the next week and if a final order is issued, recruitment will be completed within 15 days.

Ex-mayors, corporators suggest stopping Mayor grant in budget

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

IT has been over two years since the BBMP held a council, chaired by the Mayor. However, the term 'mayor grant' continues to find a place in the budget, and former councillors want this stopped.

According to BBMP officials, an allocation of Rs 50 crore is made under the mayor's discretionary grant and Rs 5 crore under the mayor's medical grant. In the absence of a mayor, the money is to be utilised by the administrator.

The BBMP officials admitted to TNIE that since the requirement for the mayor grant -- for housing and people's needs -- is not arising presently, the money was being utilised for road and other civil works.

Meanwhile, former mayors and corporators have demanded that the allocation made in the name of corporator and mayor funds be stopped since no one is occupying the posts. "When there is no mayor, there is no need for a mayor fund. The funds of the mayor was to be utilised by the person holding the chair to take up services and help people. Since the government has not held elections, the posts have not been filled. But the funds in our names continue to be allocated. There is also no account of how the money is being spent and where. There is also no audit of funds," said a former mayor, not wanting to be named.

BBMP officials said there was no order or direction from the government to change the name or stop the fund allocation.

Jayaram Raipura, BBMP Special Commissioner (Revenue), said the amount which was allocated to the corporator fund has now been diverted in the form of Rs 1 crore per ward. The amount of Rs 50 crore is being utilised for road and building works. There is no proposal to increase the fund allocation too.

Another senior BBMP official said the former corporators and mayors can approach the government for any changes or reports on fund utilisation.

'Training to up Kannadiga jobs at Centre'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HIGHER Education Minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan said that training will be imparted to students in a bid to increase the recruitment of Kannadigas in the Union government.

Speaking at the signing of an MoU between the Department of College and Technical Education (DCTE) and Spardha Arivu, a private civil services education magazine, Narayan said, "The number of people appointed from Karnataka in Central government services should increase. Recruitment for 30,000 posts will be done soon through the Staff Selection Commission (SSC). The purpose of this agreement is that people from our state should be selected in large numbers for these posts and for recruitments conducted by the UPSC," he said.

The MoU will mean that the magazine will provide free training and awareness for competitive examinations for BA, BSc, BCom, engineering and diploma final-year students. According to the agreement, final-year students will be coached for examinations held for various posts. Meanwhile, the students who have registered to write the examinations for these posts will be given access to the magazine every month so that they can read through new and updated information regarding the exams. These can be accessed through the mobile or through a QR code, DCTE Commissioner Pradeep P said, adding that a study plane will be prepared for the students and an examination will be conducted.

Add millets to daily diet: Experts

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE consumption of processed food has increased among people in rural and urban areas, which has been the cause of several lifestyle diseases, said experts. They have urged more people to consume cereals, like millets, to help build immunity and fight diseases.

Professor and Head of Department, Food and Nutrition, Gandhi Krishi Vigyana Kendra (GKVK), K Geetha said India ranks first in the production of cereal globally. She explained that during the 'Green Revolution', more focus was given to food security and not nutrition security. With such a high risk seen in terms of obesity, double burden malnutrition, high blood pressure and other lifestyle diseases, it is important to switch to a more nutrient-rich diet.

Westernisation and increased buying capacity in India brought made junk food like french fries, burgers and pizzas popular, Geetha said, adding it is the right time to go back to our roots and rediscover the traditional food of India. With the year 2023 declared the International Year of Millets by the UN, it is the right time to create awareness about nutrient-rich cereals like millets and ragi which can be easily incorporated in everyday meals.

'Contraceptive ban for teens may lead to unwanted pregnancies'

NAMRATA SINDWANI
@ Bengaluru

A recent circular issued by the Karnataka Drug Control Department (KDCD) banning the sale of condoms and contraceptives to children below 18 years of age has not gone down well with some experts and pharmacists. They say that the circular, issued a week ago, will only lead to a rise in unwanted pregnancies and Sexually Transmitted Infections (STI).

Some also said that the ban can't be effectively implemented as condoms and contraceptives are available in all stores and not just pharmacies. They are also over-the-counter sale items which do not need any prescription. Bhagoji T Khanpure, in-charge, KDCD, told The New Indian Express, "Condoms and contraceptives are not for teens and school kids and hence we issued the notice to ensure that they are not made available to them." He however added that from population control and spread of STIs point of view, the KDCD supports use of condoms among adults.

Khanpure explained that the ban was not limited to condoms and contraceptives but also to cigarettes especially after they were found in the bags of class 10 students during a surprise check conducted in a Bengaluru school recently.

P Bhagavan, retired deputy director, Pharmacy, Govt of Karnataka, said: "It is not ideal to rely completely on pharmacists to ensure condoms and contraceptives are not sold to teenagers. The right age of indulging in sexual activities is a social concept and children need to be counselled at homes and schools on sex education and effects of unwanted pregnancies or STIs." Some doctors and psychologists said the ban will not ensure that the teens are not indulging in any sexual activity. The teens are curious and experimental during the time of puberty and decisions like banning the contraceptives completely can play reverse psychology on them.

Some pharmacists also highlighted that it is difficult for them to distinguish between the customers who come dressed in civil clothes. Bhagavan does not completely agree with the logic behind the ban. He said apart from not preventing children from indulging in sexual activities, teens can find illegal ways of buying contraceptives.

20th January: Friday is named after the powerful Norse goddess Freya. Here in India, of course, it is sacred to Sukra. To the Greeks she was known as Aphrodite, to the Babylonians, Ishtar, and Quetzalcoatl to the Aztecs. To astrologers today is special for lovers, so it's a fine moment to pay attention to those closest to us.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
This could be one of the trickiest periods of the year for you, so if you emerge happier and stronger, you will know that you have done extremely well indeed. At work it is all too easy to alienate employers, so be sure to listen to their advice and respect their views.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Your burden has been increasing over the past couple of months, but not necessarily in an unpleasant manner. Your problems could be those borne of success, and any frustration could arise from the fact that your expectations are increasing, perhaps beyond the point where they can be met.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
A new fact could offer the missing link, providing the answer to a long-standing question. Do pay more attention to business connections, however small the amounts involved. Somewhere along the line, your ideas have parted company with a friend's, but it's important that you see eye-to-eye.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
It's impossible to tell whether affairs of the heart or professional hopes are most important, but what is certain is that your deeper emotional aspirations are now being buffeted by a cosmic squall. Hang on tight and seek reassurance wherever you can.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
When you're dealing with finances, property, or anything which connects your prosperity to others, you must realise that there can now be no quick fixes. It may be necessary to devote more of your energy to partners' interests than your own, but not for too long - hopefully!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You have been led a merry old dance by certain people. It's been fun, but it could be time to move on. Someone who once seemed so reliable has lost touch with circumstances and may no longer know what is needed. It's up to you to recreate harmonious conditions.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
There is no telling exactly what will happen now that other people have decided to go their own way, but if you have made your peace with authority you should be on a fairly safe path. All that can be said with certainty is that nothing is certain, so keep your options open!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
A major alteration in the pattern of your working life could be the consequence of personal changes. You could also be pleasantly surprised by the results. A trip to your romantic past may also soon be accomplished, but don't wait around waiting for someone to get in touch. Take the initiative!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Recent emotional situations have absorbed much time and energy and left you feeling somewhat drained. However, the real problems may be other people's rather than yours, so please extend sympathy and support wherever and whenever it is required.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You're still in the midst of sensitive, delicate and vulnerable planetary aspects, so if you feel slightly wobbly it's only to be expected. However, all artists should produce their best work, lovers could be about to hit a new peak and mystics will be reaching a fresh high!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Travel plans may have to be altered, mainly because your ideas are now changing, and some of the information on which you've been acting no longer seems to be valid. In love, it's now vital to talk about your feelings. If you don't tell other people what you want, then they can't be blamed for misunderstanding you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You're deep in a phase of romantic and financial extravagance, so it would be a shame indeed if you have to count your cash. This is one of those rare times when it looks as if happiness can be bought! Actually, you're also entering a secretive period, so you may be keeping certain intense feelings to yourself.

Bommai: New projects will be implemented & pending ones will be completed in K'taka

CM: NEXT 10 YRS WILL BE 'DECADE OF IRRIGATION'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Yadgir

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday said that the next 10 years will be declared as the 'Decade of Irrigation' to implement and complete irrigation projects in Karnataka.

Bommai was speaking at a programme at Kodekal village in Yadgir district in which Prime Minister Narendra Modi launched development works worth Rs 10,863 crore.

The CM said that the government has set a target of irrigating 40.66 lakh hectares of which nearly 30 lakh hectares have been irrigated so far. "Necessary steps will be taken to irrigate the remaining land in the next 10 years," he added.

> Basavaraj Bommai, Chief Minister

Bommai said that water will be supplied to all the farmers in tail-end areas of Narayanpur Left Bank Canal Extension. He said renovation and modernisation of Narayanpur Left Bank Canal will be done using SCADA (Supervisory Control and Data Acquisition System) technology. "With the same technology, water will be supplied to all the tail-end farmers to irrigate 4.5 lakh hectares. This will also help minimise wastage of water. This will be the biggest project in Asia," he elaborated.

Meanwhile, Bommai, who spoke at a programme organised to distribute Hakku Patras to beneficiaries at Malkhed, hit out at the Opposition. "What have those leaders who claim themselves to be the flag-bearers of social justice done to the oppressed classes? The BJP government has not only given social justice but also given social security to them," he claimed.

Karnataka Revenue Department has made a revolution by providing property records at the doorsteps of beneficiaries, he said, adding that it was possible owing to the digital revolution brought about by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Calling Modi an inspiration for all pro-people programmes launched by the State Government, Bommai called the former a "social reformer".

Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot, PM Naredrna Modi, Water Resources Minister Govind Karjol, Union MoS for Chemicals and Fertilizers Bhagwanth Khuba, Kalaburagi District in-charge Minister Murugesh Nirani, Animal Husbandry Minister Prabhu Chauhan and Kalaburagi MP Dr Umesh Jadhav were present.

PM event enters record book with over 50,000 title deeds in a day

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI @Kalaburagi

PM Modi's programme in poll-bound Karnataka entered the record books for distribution of the highest number of hakku patras (property title deeds) to 51,900 people at an event in Kalaburagi on Thursday. The title deeds were distributed to members of the Banjaras from Bidar, Kalaburagi, Yadgir, Raichur and Vijayapura. Vasant Kavita, vice president of the World Book of Records, handed over a certificate to Revenue Minister R Ashok as well as to the Kalaburagi DC.

Ashok told that the government had started the process of identifying beneficiaries and preparing title deeds six months ago. He said the title deeds given will be registered at the sub-registrar's office free of cost. The 'thandas', where these families are living will be declared as revenue villages so that the people of the these villages can avail the benefits extended to revenue villages, he said.

SIDDU: BJP MADE PM LIE

Speaking in Hubballi, senior Congress leader Siddaramaiah accused the state BJP leaders of making PM Modi lie on distribution of title deeds to nomads of north Karnataka region. He said many initiatives, including amendments to Land Reforms Act and Forest Act to convert Lambani hamlets and Hattis into revenue villages, were taken when he was the chief minister. Questioning the BJP leaders what they were doing in the last three and half years, he said, as the election was approaching, the party was misleading the prime minister and taking credit for something they have not done. He also said that the official celebration of the Sewalal Jayanti to honour the Guru of Banjara community was started by his government. Banjara Development Authority was also established, Rs 450 crore released to the Authority and the birthplace of Sewalal (Suryagondanakoppa) was developed at a cost of Rs 130 crore during his tenure. Stating that the Congress party was not afraid of Narendra Modi and his speeches, Siddaramaiah said, "Actually, the BJP leaders are afraid of me because I criticise the RSS and speak the truth. Will Narendra Modi do maya mantra (black magic)?". In Davanagere, Siddaramaiah took a dig at PM Modi on the distribution of the title deeds to the Banjara community. He said it was former revenue minister Kagodu Thimmappa who brought the revenue and land reforms bill which became a law. "It is the commitment of the social justice that Congress practices that has made us to think about 'Vasisuvavane Mane Odeya' and the fruits are being reaped by the people now, he said

Cong's registration drive for its women's scheme

ENS @ Davangere

KPCC president DK Shivakumar on Thursday said that the Congress will undertaken a massive registration drive for the 'Gruha Jyothi Yojana', and 'Gruha Lakshmi' announced by the party for the welfare of women of the state.

Addressing a Praja Dhwani Yatra programe in Davangere, he said that the party is inviting applications both online and offline for registration under the 'Gruha Lakshmi scheme as per which which a monthly cash assistance of Rs 2,000 will be given to every woman head of household and also 200 units free power under the 'Gruha Jyothi Yojana' if the party is voted to power in the state Assembly elections which are a few months away. He said that the registration will be done by the party workers on the lines of how it was done under the party membership registration drive. Through the schemes, the Congress party, if elected, will offer Rs 18,000 units of free power (200 units per month which costs Rs 1,500) and Rs 24,000 (Rs 2,000 every month) financial aid to woman heads of families, he said.

Shivakumar also said that, if voted to power, the party will re-investigate all scams that took place during the present BJP government.

Exuding confidence, he predicted that the Congress will win 135 to 140 seats in the polls. He also called upon the party workers to undertake door-to-door visits and educate the voters on the achievements of Congress party in the past.

Shivakumar also recalled the Rs 16 crore free vaccine drive across Davangere district initiated by Congress veteran Dr Shamanur Shivashankarappa's family when Covid-19 pandemic was at its peak.

'WANT JUSTICE': SIDDU TARGETS PM MODI

As PM Modi distributed title deeds to Lambanis on Thursday, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah, in a series of tweets, targeted the former demanding "justice" by raising various issues, including the PSI recruitment scam. "The BJP government looted more than Rs 3,000 crore during the pandemic by taking commission from suppliers of essential commodities. Mr Modi, how could you turn a blind eye to your party's looting over dead bodies," he questioned. He highlighted the deaths by suicide of KR Puram circle police inspector Nandish and contractors Santhosh Patil and Prasad. He also targeted the BJP government over the potholes on Bengaluru roads and the recent death of a mother and her toddler after an under construction Metro pillar collapsed on them in Bengaluru.

PM on political tourism, will forget K'taka after polls: Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Davanagere

TAKING a dig at Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah on Thursday said that the former is embarked on a political tourism of Karnataka ahead of the Assembly elections.

Addressing the Congress' Praja Dhwani Yatra here, the former chief minister said, "PM Modi will forget Karnataka once the elections are over. Never pay heed to the false assurances given by the BJP." Urging voters to defeat the BJP in the upcoming Assembly elections in Karnataka, Siddaramaiah said the Grand Old Party is committed to fulfilling the assurances it is making to them ahead of the Assembly elections.

"In order to help the public from the ill-effects of inflation, we have announced that we will provide 200 units of free electricity to every household and also give Rs 2,000 a month to every woman head of households if the Congress is voted to power. We will provide a pro-people government," he said.

Stating that the hike in reservation for SC/STs communities is a mere eyewash, Siddaramaiah said, "Unless it is included in the ninth schedule of the Constitution, the hike has no meaning." He also accused the BJP of being anti-SC/STs. He asked the gathering if they wanted an anti-people BJP government or people-friendly Congress government.

Country cannot forget Lambanis' contribution: PM

THE living condition of the Congress party leaders has improved considerably, the PM taunted.

The Lambani community is in significant numbers in Kalaburagi, the home district of AICC president Mallikarjuna Kharge, who had unsuccessfully contested the 2019 Lok Sabha polls from Kalaburagi seat. The PM's event in the district is also seen as part of the BJP's efforts to consolidate the party's base in the AICC president's home district.

Modi said the country would not forget the contribution of the Banjara community, which had contributed significantly in improving water sources in Gujarat and Rajasthan. But, in Karnataka so far they were deprived of basic facilities as they were not possessing title deeds for their properties and their thandas (hamlets) were not considered revenue villages, he said.

Now the Karnataka revenue department has distributed Hakku Patras to 51,900 people belonging to the Banjara community in a single day, which is a record, he said. "Banjara community should not feel that they are orphans; you always remember that your son is in New Delhi who cares for your welfare," Modi said, referring to himself.

He praised the state government for development works in north Karnataka. He said the next 25 years are 'Amrit Kaal' for the country and every state. "We have to create Viksit Bharat during this Amrit Kaal.

This can happen only when every person, family and state gets associated with this campaign. India can be developed when the life of the farmer in the field and the entrepreneur is improved. India can be developed when there is good crop, and factory output expands. This will need learning from the negative experiences and bad policies of the past", he said.

Citing examples of works accomplished in the double engine government, the Prime Minister noted that when the Jal Jeevan mission began three-and-a-half years ago, only three crore rural families had piped water connection out of 18 crore rural families. "Today that number has gone up to 11 crore rural families," the Prime Minister continued, "Out of these, 35 lakh families are from Karnataka." He noted that the coverage of water per household in Yadgir and Raichur is higher than the overall average of Karnataka and the country," he added.

The PM complimented Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and his team for the progress in all the departments, and said the double engine government is striving for the implementation of the irrigation projects.

SIDDU CAMP GEARS UP FOR SWEET REVENGE AGAINST GTD IN CHAMUNDESHWARI SEAT

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

FORMER chief minister Siddaramaiah, who has announced that he will contest elections from Kolar, has vowed to settle scores with political rival GT Deve Gowda and the JDS, and regain his lost turf of Chamundeshwari.

Siddaramaiah has started making calculated moves and is opening doors to disgruntled JDS leaders who have fallen out with Deve Gowda, to prove to his detractors that he will have the last laugh in Chamundeshwari, that elected him five times since 1983.

It's been almost a decade since JDS wrested the seat from the Congress, and Siddaramaiah's defeat here in 2018 is frequently ridiculed. It is also referred to by his rivals, who make jibes at the opposition leader who has now hopped from Badami constituency to Kolar. This has prompted Siddaramaiah and his supporters to teach Deve Gowda and his party a lesson, besides ensuring an impressive Congress victory in Chamundeshwari. Congressmen claim that Deve Gowda's defeat will be celebrated as Siddaramaiah's victory.

Since Siddaramaiah has announced that he will be fighting his last election in 2023, he hopes to bid goodbye to a four-decade-long political career with sweet revenge, ensuring the defeat of his one-time loyalist turned rival Deve Gowda, who defeated him by a margin of 36,042 votes. He wants to prove that he is still a force to reckon with on his home turf, besides sending a message to his rivals in Mysuru region.

Deve Gowda had stayed away from the JDS for more than two years, warming up to ruling BJP and Congress leaders, and sending feelers that he was ready to quit and join them, upsetting JDS leaders and cadres. His decision to continue in the JDS has not gone down well with them, and disagreements have come to the fore in the party rank and file. This could turn into a blessing for the Congress.

Many leaders, including former ZP member Beerehundi Basavanna, Mavinahalli Sidde Gowda, Made Gowda, Kempanayaka and others will join the Congress along with thousands of their supporters, at a rally on Saturday at Lingadevara Koppalu on Mysuru-Hunsur Road. The disgruntled leaders have organised rallies at the same venue where the JDS flagged off Kumaraparva in the run-up to the 2018 election.

Congress leader K Marigowda said the convention will be a show of strength for Siddaramaiah, who had represented Chamundeshwari five times and spent Rs 1500 crore on the development of the constituency from 2013 to 2018. He said the people of the constituency will shower their love on Siddaramaiah by ensuring an emphatic victory for the Congress candidate and his leadership in the 2023 polls. Listing out the achievements, he said that villages and Dalit colonies were developed using SC/ST special component funds, 5,000 houses were built and 2,400 sanctioned near Mandagalli.

Important to reach out to fellow humans, says Che's daughter

ENS @ Bengaluru

ALEIDA Guevara, daughter of Marxist revolutionary Che Guevara, on Thursday said it is important to develop the quality to reach out to fellow human beings in need, irrespective of their skin colour, culture or ideology.

Participating in the Centre for Indian Trade Unions' (CITU) 17th All India Conference at Palace Grounds, Alaida urged people of the working classes to muster their strength and change their reality. "What's the world order of the working class?" she asked delegates, stating, "Unity... to achieve unity." "We need something important, which is respect for each other. We can have different ideologies, or we can achieve an objective in a different manner. But we must learn to respect our differences, and to learn from these differences to change our existence," she suggested.

Stating that a small island country like Cuba, located next to a superpower (USA), is able to handle itself because of the unity of its people, she said, "It is important to have a human quality to reach out to other humans... All human beings are equal. Skin, cultural differences or ideologies do not matter, and the only thing that matters is being useful to other humans. This is what makes us grow as human beings," she remarked.

Aleida also stressed on learning from human errors and finding solutions for them. Commenting on the present economic status of Cuba, she said, "Today, Cuba suffers from economic problems due to two years of the pandemic. The government has exhausted all its resources for the people. The US has tightened the blockade against Cuba, which has created an extraordinary problem among the people. This year, many Cubans left the country," she stated.

"We have to work for this. We have to produce more food for our population and that is why we need a lot of solidarity from people across the world so that Cuba can keep resisting," she said.

KAS officer threatening me, says AAP leader

ENS @ Bengaluru

AAM Aadmi Party (AAM) state spokesperson K Mathai here on Thursday alleged that a KAS officer, who has been campaigning for MLA NA Harris, has threatened him (Mathai) not to contest from Shantinagar Assembly constituency. Mathai also released an audio clip purportedly of the officer threatening him. "The officer called me on my mobile phone at 9am on January 13 and we spoke for 15 minutes. He mentioned MLA NA Harris' name several times. He put pressure on me not to contest from Shantinagar which is represented by Harris. He also threatened me with dire consequences. It is unfortunate that the MLAs are using officials to make such calls fearing defeat in the ensuing elections," Mathai alleged.

AAP Bengaluru president Mohan Dasari accused a BJP MLA representing a constituency in Bengaluru of distributing pressure cookers to woo voters. "The MLA is ignoring his constituency. He is distributing cookers to woo voters. No action has been initiated against him by the authorities concerned." Dasari displayed a cooker, plate and tumblers allegedly distributed by the MLA with his picture on them.

Seeks action against platform speaker for using abusive and unparliamentary words

R SIVAKUMAR @Chennai

TAMIL Nadu Governor R N Ravi on Thursday filed a criminal defamation complaint against DMK platform speaker Sivaji Krishnamurthy for making "false allegations" and "impeaching reputation" with intent to malign the reputation of the governor and his administration.

The complaint was filed by the Chennai City Public Prosecutor (CPP) G Devarajan on behalf of the governor under Section 199(2) of the CrPC before the principal district and sessions court in Chennai, seeking to initiate defamation proceedings against Krishnamurthy under Sections 499 and 500 of the Indian Penal Code.

The complaint refers to Krishnamurthy's speech on January 13, 2023, at a public meeting in Chennai after which he was suspended from the DMK.

Krishnamurthy had used abusive and unparliamentary words against the governor over his customary address in the state assembly on the opening day of the first session of the year when he skipped certain portions of the printed speech.

Stating that the speech contains all ingredients required for "offence of defamation", the complaint said there is no truth in the allegations made by Krishnamurthy which are "false in nature".

"The speech directly impeaches the reputation of the governor and his administration", the complaint said, adding that the derogatory speech made with an intent to malign the reputation of the governor in the course of discharge of his public functions and duties was circulated on social media.

The state government's public department granted sanction for suing the DMK orator vide a G.O. on January 15, 2023, following a complaint by the governor's deputy secretary S Prasanna Ramasamy to the Chennai city police commissioner who, in turn, forwarded it to the government for action. The officer had also submitted a video clipping of the speech to police.

After furore, Kerala minister terms culling of tigers 'mere suggestion'

K S SREEJITH @T'Puram

UNDER attack from all corners, Forest Minister A K Saseendran on Thursday sought to play down his statement on culling of tigers, saying it was a mere suggestion. However, the government has not rejected the idea fully, and may approach the Union government seeking amendments to the Wildlife Protection Act 1972 so as to make culling and shifting of wild animals that cause threat to human life legal.

Kerala is of the view that states which have good track record in forest and wildlife conservation should be given flexibility in dealing with new issues. "As a state where the number of wild animals has registered a phenomenal growth, Kerala wants a leeway in dealing with the human-animal conflict," Saseendran said.

The minister said his office plans to invite suggestions from people and organisations to solve the wild animal attack on humans. An expert committee will vet the suggestions and summarise them to submit before the Union Ministry of Environment and Forests. A decision in this regard will be taken after consultation with the Advocate General and the law department. The final call will be of the Chief Minister, he said.

"The Wildlife Protection Act is no longer useful in dealing with the issues that arise now like human-wild animal conflict. It was drafted and enacted at a time when there were no cases of wild animals attacking humans and farmland," Saseendran said, and pointed out that noted environmentalist Madhav Gadgil has also said the same.

"His statement supporting the suggestion of culling goes along with the farmers' demand. We have to examine what other countries have done to deal with it. In India there is no conservation law that allows culling," he said.

Saseendran said farmers' organisations have asked the forest department to cull wild animals.

FOREST WATCHER TRAMPLED TO DEATH DURING ELEPHANT DRIVE

Mysuru: A forest watcher was trampled to death by an elephant when he along with over 20 others were driving a nearly 30-strong herd into the forest at the foot of Ettakatte Betta Vadgalapura on the Chamarajnagar-Sathyamangalam border. The deceased has been identified as Nanjaiah (35), a tribal from Hosapodu near Punjanur. He had joined the forest department as a daily wage employee and was sent to the Karnataka-Tamil Nadu border to check on the jumbo menace after a herd of elephants killed a cow and have been raiding standing crops. Eyewitnesses said Nanjaiah was killed when several female elephants charged at the group of forest watchers. While many managed to escape into the woods, Nanjaiah was trampled to death. RFO Umesh said that the forest department will pay a compensation of Rs 13 lakh to Nanjaiah's family. ENS

NTCA, eco ministry take note of K'taka tiger deaths

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA) and the Ministry of Environment, Forests and Climate Change (MoEFCC) has flagged the rising incidents of death of tigers in Karnataka, and sought a report from the state government on the mitigation action taken. Apart from tigers, the report should also include leopard and elephant conflict cases.

Karnataka forest department officials were also questioned at the recent NTCA meeting, chaired by Union Minister Bhupender Yadav, held in Bandipur Tiger Reserve. The matter gained importance in the wake of a proposal by the Kerala government to cull tigers in Wayanad as a solution to reduce man-animal conflicts.

A senior official from NTCA told The New Indian Express that a committee is also being formed to assess the deaths of tigers and other wildlife. "The report has been sought to know what the government is doing to control conflicts, data on the numbers of conflicts, deaths and causes. It has been noted that as a solution, the animal is captured and sent to zoos or rescue centres. They are being turned into mini-forests!" the official said.

The official added that a close assessment has shown that in most cases, the causes are reduced green cover, absence of buffer zones, land diversion, rising intolerance among people and even rise in animal population. The problems are also linear and complex – different in different places. So a close assessment in each is needed. There is also a need to know what awareness, education and preventive steps the government has taken so far and why this has failed.

Forest officials said deaths of leopards, tigers and elephants have increased, but in proportion to the rise in population, this is less. The officials were also quick to add that it was a matter of worry. They said similar to Wayanad plan should not be thought of in Karnataka as it will lead to a drastic decline in wildlife population.

KSRTC looks at new routes, destinations

AKNISREE KARTHIK @Bengaluru

WITH new tourist destinations, business, IT and medical hubs, and pilgrim centres coming up in the past decade across South India and parts of North India, the Karnataka State Road Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) is exploring options to operate buses to these places.

The corporation has already completed meetings with transport officials from Kerala, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana and Tamil Nadu and will decide on the new routes soon.

Speaking to The New Indian Express, Anbu Kumar, Managing Director, KSRTC, said, "Over the years, the needs of travellers have changed. New tourist destinations have developed. In some states, multi-speciality hospitals have come up, IT companies have mushroomed and many places have turned into a business hub. Along with these developments, we can see that there are new settlements that have also come up. The population has increased and there are different needs and we need new schedules."

Mentioning that these needs are not addressed in the old inter-state route agreements, Kumar said, "More than 12 years have passed since we have not renewed our route-agreements with different states. We have already had talks with Kerala, Telangana, Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu transport corporation officials and they have responded positively. They also need some routes and we also need some."

Among the South Indian states, more routes are coming up to Kerala, Telangana and Andhra Pradesh, Kumar said and added, "We are also trying to run our services to Ahmedabad in Gujarat and Puri Jagannath in Odisha as we have more demand."

He said the inter-state route proposal has been shared with the government and once it gives the nod and notifies the new routes, KSRTC can start operations.

Inquiry on over Gadkari threat call: Araga

EXPRESS NEWS Service @Bengaluru

HOME Minister Araga Jnanendra said an internal inquiry is under way in connection with the alleged threat call made from Hindalga Central Prison in Belagavi to Union Minister of Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari.

Speaking to reporters on the sidelines of a valedictory function of the Karnataka State Police Annual Sports Meet here on Thursday, Jnanendra said the prison and police departments are conducting a probe into the matter.

"Within three months, jammers that can block 5G signals will be installed at all prisons across the state. Instructions have been given to keep a tab on incoming and outgoing calls from prisons and also to conduct checks in barracks and prison premises periodically to tackle smuggling of contraband, especially mobile phones," the minister said.

He added that criminal cases will be taken up against inmates who are found in possession of contraband articles and also against the suppliers.

In damage-control mode, Tharoor seeks meetings with Sonia, Kharge

T'Puram: Congress leader Shashi Tharoor has sought appointments with former party president Sonia Gandhi and current incumbent Mallikarjun Kharge in an attempt to clear the air over the backlash he received from the state leadership over the second leg of his Malabar tour. The state leadership had apparently given an adverse report to Tariq Anwar, national general secretary in charge of Kerala. Anwar held meetings with a slew of leaders during his recent visit to the state capital. Their key objection was that Tharoor did not consult the party leadership ahead of phase two of his outreach programme in Malabar, say sources. Anwar had to crack the whip after senior leaders Ramesh Chennithala and K Muraleedharan made public remarks in the issue. State president K Sudhakaran's recent negative remarks against the Thiruvananthapuram MP have added fuel to the fire. Tharoor appears to be in damage-control mode. "As of Thursday evening, he has not got the appointment of either Kharge or Sonia. With the budget session of Parliament starting on January 31, he must be keen to clarify his stand before the central leadership," a national leader told The New Indian Express. ENS

KCR PREPARES GROUND FOR 'ALTERNATIVE' POLITICS WITH BRS

"Your policy is privatisation, ours is nationalisation," thundered K Chandrashekar Rao, Chief Minister of Telangana and head of the Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS), at the party's foundation day meeting in Khammam. This statement gives us a peek into his yet-to-be-unrolled agenda. The event, attended by lakhs of people and three chief ministers—Kerala's Pinarayi Vijayan, Delhi's Arvind Kejriwal and Punjab's Bhagwant Mann—besides Samajwadi Party's Akhilesh Yadav and CPI leader D Raja, indicates the BRS chief's future direction.

Going by the remarks of his son and IT Minister K T Rama Rao at Davos, we can assume KCR is aiming to craft a "socialist" agenda with a distinctive capitalist flavour. One may not be mistaken in believing that his idea of an alternative to the Modi government's policies is different in degree, not in kind. Nonetheless, his announcements, such as the promise of free power supply across the country, show he could be stretching things a bit. Perhaps, he believes that good economics isn't good politics in our country yet. The BRS, of course, is still a regional party and has a long road ahead. Its economic policies wouldn't immediately matter. We point at KCR's economics because it could be an indicator of his future allies as he seeks to cross state borders. It is not by chance that Pinarayi and Raja were applauding him from the stage. If he manages to get the Left on his side, he could get that ideological heft, and backed with brand Hyderabad he may actually present a better picture than the Congress. Karnataka will be his first venture beyond Telangana, where he has sealed a deal with the JD(S).

The other dimension of KCR's BRS is his foray into Andhra, where he is seen, by and large, as the man who deprived the state of Hyderabad. He has appointed a Kapu leader as the party's state chief. If he can pull Kapu votes to some extent, he may spoil the party of Pawan Kalyan, another Kapu leader who is in alliance with the BJP and itching to shake hands with his old rival N Chandrababu Naidu. KCR may not be wrong in his calculations. After all, it isn't very certain if Pawan has the support of a majority of Kapus, a numerically strong community but traditionally divided among different parties. If KCR succeeds in dividing Kapu votes, he could kill two birds with one stone.

CULLING A BETRAYAL OF CONSERVATION EFFORTS

The Kerala government's proposal to cull tigers in the state to contain the threat to human lives due to a perceived rise in the big cat population has sparked a debate about wildlife conservation. While culling is just one of the many proposals being considered, the fact remains that the government is approaching the whole issue with a tunnel vision, reducing it to a mere man vs wild animal conflict. It is only the human side of the story that is told. Not discounting the human tragedy in this context, it has to be said that the narrative conveniently forgets that tigers are also the rightful owners of their part of the world. The government argues that the tiger population has increased beyond the carrying capacity of forests. Environmental groups have questioned Forest Minister A K Saseendran's claim about the tiger population increase and asked him to validate it with proof from a scientific study. Citing the latest figures released by the National Tiger Conservation Authority, they contend that less than 50 tigers are in the three forest divisions of Wayanad. While talking about wildlife numbers, the minister, strangely, is silent on the proliferation of resorts and quarrying in forest areas.

Despite the rebound in numbers, tigers are still classified as endangered and the big cat has completely vanished from many of its former habitats. Killing tigers is prohibited in India unless the animal is declared a man-eater. There was a time when more than a lakh tigers roamed freely in India. At the turn of the 20th century, there were about 40,000 tigers in the country's forests, dwindling to less than 1,400 in 2006 due to poaching, man-animal conflicts, habitat loss, and industrialisation. The number rose to 2,967 by 2018, thanks to the world's most ambitious conservation endeavour called Project Tiger. In 1973, India banned tiger hunting and set up 50 reserves under the programme.

It took decades of painstaking conservation efforts to save a species on the verge of extinction. It is appalling, then, that the governments are even thinking of drastic measures like culling to deal with what should essentially be considered a healthy tiger population. They should, instead, reduce human activities in core forest areas so that tigers don't venture into human habitats. If the numbers are beyond a forest's carrying capacity, translocation can be considered but should be exercised only as a last resort.

QUICK TAKE

REALISTIC STUDENT EVALUATION

A scientific approach to school education in India must address not just the curriculum but the absence of a national standard of student evaluation. The vast disparity in marks awarded by the state and central boards invalidates the existing assessment system. Hopefully, PARAKH (Performance Assessment, Review, and Analysis of Knowledge for Holistic Development), recently launched as NCERT's constituent and the first national assessment regulator, is the solution. Its remit is to introduce uniform evaluation systems across the boards for realistic scores. It must work towards holistic education, setting standards for innovative teaching and testing methods to suit modern skill requirements.

Over several years, celebrities have been advertising sugar-loaded soft drinks, chips, tobacco and alcohol, among other products of dubious value or proven harm

ENDORSEMENTS SHOULD NOT ENDANGER HEALTH

DR K SRINATH REDDY

Cardiologist, epidemiologist and Distinguished Professor of Public Health, PHFI

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Controversy recently erupted over an endorsement by Amitabh Bachchan of biscuits as a nutritious breakfast for children. The Nutrition Advocacy in Public Interest (NAPi) has written to the actor, protesting against the advertisement and requesting him to sever his connection with the manufacturer. Though NAPi has yet to receive a reply from the great thespian, the YouTube video of the advertisement has been withdrawn.

The reason for protest was because the product contained high levels of sugar, fat and sodium, exceeding the upper limits set by WHO. It is also high in calories but low in the quality of nutrients. While it should by no means be promoted as a healthy food, much less as a substitute for home-cooked meals, there are health dangers which are associated with high levels of sugar, fat and salt consumption. Packaged products like these are often ultra-processed foods (UPFs). There has been mounting evidence, accompanied by rising public health concerns, about the health hazards of UPFs.

These foods are made from industrially processed extracts of natural foods like oils, fats, starches and proteins. They can also be synthesised in laboratories or factories. Either way, they bear little similarity to the nutrient balance that natural foods provide. The interactions that exist between the wide range of nutrients and chemicals found in natural foods are not found in these products. The latter strip away the natural structure of food and remove fibre, vitamins, minerals and a wide variety of phytochemicals that nourish the body. Addition of a few vitamins or minerals does not restore that nutritional balance or composite structure of food.

While they are not labelled as UPF, they can be identified by their composition which includes ingredients such as emulsifiers, thickeners, protein isolates and other products of industrial origin. They often contain chemical additives intended to enhance colour, taste or texture. There is little or no intact natural food in these products. With high levels of sugar, salt or fats, they are hyperpalatable, highly addictive and increasingly replace health-promoting natural foods in the diet.

The list of health disorders associated with UPF is long and keeps growing as new evidence accumulates. Increased risk of cardiovascular disease, diabetes, obesity and cancer has been noted. Especially alarming, in the context of advertisements targeting children, is the rise in childhood obesity and a very early onset of insulin-resistant adult type of diabetes.

UPF has been shown to erode the body's immunity and stoke inflammation which damages many organs. A recent Italian study, which followed the life course of 22,895 healthy adults over a 14-year period, found that those who consumed the highest number of UPF products had the greatest risk of dying prematurely from any cause. Scientists noted that inflammatory markers (such as high white blood cell counts) were higher in people who ate the most UPF items. Chronic inflammation has been linked to cardiovascular disease, cancer and diabetes. Even the ability to fight off infections is eroded by disordered immunity.

Over several years, celebrities have advertised sugar-loaded soft drinks, chips, tobacco and alcohol products and their name-sharing surrogates, paan masala, fairness creams, among other products of dubious value or proven harm. The channels used for advertising and promotion range from print and radio to electronic and social media. Celebrities roped in for such advertising are popular film and television stars or sportspersons, with some social media influencers now joining them. Sponsorship of films and sports-related events gives extensive visibility to commercial products in their original or brand-sharing surrogate forms. Promotion by celebrities generates peer pressure which is difficult for young persons to resist.

Celebrities claim that they have the right to earn money by promoting a legally permitted and licensed product that is available in the market. In exercising their judgement, they must pay heed to warnings put out by agencies such as the WHO and national health authorities. There is often a lag time between emergence of scientific knowledge about the harm from widely marketed consumer products and the regulatory action needed to contain it. This delay should not become an alibi for turning one's back on credible scientific evidence.

Often, the manufacturing industries deny or distort evidence and try every trick in the trade to delay, dilute and derail regulatory controls. The tobacco industry is a clear example of such a powerful force that for long successfully thwarted actions to control harm from consumption of tobacco products. Industries which manufacture UPFs and other unhealthy food substitutes often follow the playbook of the tobacco industry.

It is commendable that several celebrities have refused or recanted from endorsing harmful products. Pullela Gopichand rejected a brand endorsement offer from Coca-Cola after he won the All England Badminton Championship in 2001. Speaking at a Global Youth Meet in Agra in 2006, he said he was appalled to see that customary serving of buttermilk to visitors was replaced by colas in the villages of Andhra Pradesh. His mentee P V Sindhu is reported to have stated that she "won't be endorsing products that are harmful to one's health ever and will stay away from them".

Rahul Dravid has been exemplary, not only by staying away from promotion of unhealthy food products, but also by acting as the health ministry's ambassador for tobacco control. Others have taken up causes ranging from depression to diabetes. Many provided public interest messages during health emergencies such as Covid-19. Celebrities should help educate and motivate people to adopt healthy living habits and not promote unhealthy products.

Film actors in particular like to act in and promote patriotic movies. It is also a patriotic duty to promote the health of India and, at any rate, not undermine it. Amitabh Bachchan has, in the past, stopped advertising for cola and a paan masala brand. He has probably responded to the outcry against the "biscuit as food" advertisement by having it stopped. If so, he deserves applause.

More importantly, he should guide younger celebrities to adopt socially responsible norms for promoting consumer products. As one who greatly contributed to the success of India's pulse polio vaccination programme, Bachchan would surely wish to see the babies he protected grow to become healthy children, adolescents and adults. Can he help other celebrities to break free from the Zanjeer of financial allure that binds them to the promotion of unhealthy products?

BUDGET 2023 MUST PRIORITISE INDIA'S SOCIAL SECTOR

DIPA SINHA

Teaches Economics at Dr B R Ambedkar University, Delhi

There are a number of indications to show that the recovery in the economy is uneven and on shaky grounds. Unemployment rates, especially among the educated youth, remain at record high levels. Real wages in the informal sector have been declining, there exists a high level of unutilised capacity in the industrial sector, and the share of private consumption expenditure in the GDP is at a low. All these indicate that distress continues among the poorer sections and those in the informal sector. Budget 2023, which will be announced in a couple of weeks, could address this by including expansionary measures towards enhancing welfare provisions that could not only provide a cushion for the poor, but also contribute to improving the overall situation of depressed demand.

However, the government has already announced that one of the most significant measures introduced as a part of Covid relief will not be continued anymore. The additional free foodgrains which were given under the Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Anna Yojana (PMGKAY) over the last two years has been discontinued from January 2023 onwards. PMGKAY has been playing an important role in mitigating hunger and providing an indirect form of income support in these times of difficulty.

While the usual entitlement under the National Food Security Act (NFSA) of 5 kgs of cereals per person every month would continue for the eligible beneficiaries (about 80 crore persons) and will now be given for free (with a change in nomenclature to PMGKAY), this drop in prices does not compensate for the reduction in quantity, as people were already paying very low prices—₹3 per kg for rice and ₹2 per kg for wheat, with some states giving an additional subsidy and distributing it at an even cheaper price. At the same time, it is seen that other forms of support that the government has been providing has also stagnated or reduced in the recent past.

Many have been arguing for some form of direct cash transfers to be given to address the current situation. While there was a one-time transfer for three months to all the women account holders under the PM Jan Dhan Yojana (PMJDY) in 2020, there has been no new or additional cash transfer that has been introduced. In this context, it becomes important to bring attention to maternity entitlements under the NFSA as well as social security pensions for the aged, single women and disabled under the National Social Assistance Programme (NSAP). Both of these are very critical initiatives that reach some of the most needy and vulnerable sections of the society.

Although the NFSA provides an entitlement of at least ₹6000 to all pregnant women, the Pradhan Mantri Matru Vandana Yojana (PMMVY) scheme that was introduced in 2017 covers only the first child with an entitlement of ₹5000. While last year there was a modification to this scheme to also include the second child in case it is a girl, the coverage under the scheme continues to be quite low. A recent response to a question in the Lok Sabha states that there have been about 3.12 crore beneficiaries enrolled under this scheme since its inception up to November 2022, an average of around 60 lakh per year in contrast to about 2.5 crore births that take place each year.

R Satish Babu

> All components of the social sector have been crying for attention and funds, and in the current economic scenario, ignoring these areas could be very costly

A letter by a group of over 50 economists to the finance minister in December 2022, asking for enhanced allocations for social security pensions and maternity entitlements, estimates that an allocation of at least ₹8000 crore would be required for full-fledged implementation of the maternity entitlements as per the NFSA norms, whereas so far it has never gone above ₹2,500 crore. In fact, if the amount of ₹6000 (as set in the NFSA which was passed almost ten years back) is adjusted for inflation, even higher allocations would be required. Similarly, in the case of old age pensions, the Central government's contribution has remained at ₹200 per month since 2006! The economists' letter also recommends that this must be immediately increased to at least ₹500, requiring an additional ₹9000 crore for old age and widow pensions.

In other welfare measures as well, the trend over the last few years has not been very positive. The allocations for anganwadi services and mid-day meals have been declining in real terms from 2015 onwards. It is estimated that in real terms, the budgets for these two schemes in 2022 was 25% to 30% lower compared to 2015. Even during Covid, there was no substantial increase in the budgetary allocations for these schemes. In MGNREGA too, there is evidence of high unmet demand as well as delays in wage payments. Wage rates under the employment guarantee schemes are below the minimum wage as well as the market wages. Wages for anganwadi workers and ASHAs have also not been increased in a long time. Health and education budgets also remain woefully inadequate. With the single move of withdrawing the additional food grains under PMGKAY, the government is saving ₹1.8 lakh crore on the food subsidy. What remains to be seen is how much of this would be utilised for welfare spending.

All components of the social sector have been crying for attention and funds, and in the current economic scenario, ignoring these areas could be very costly. India has been notorious for its low expenditure on health, education and social spending. There is no better time than now to correct this. Spending on the social sector needs to be seen not as 'freebies', but rather meeting the basic responsibilities of a welfare state. And in fact, this is also critical for economic revival. One hopes that Budget 2023 would send out such a message.

Uniting against BJP

Prime ministerial ambitions of some CMs seem to be a stumbling block to opposition unity. While the Congress is welcoming all parties opposed to the BJP, a few regional parties are unwilling to join. They should forget their regional issues and unite against their larger opponent.

Plane truth

Let's not read too much into the incident involving BJP MP Tejasvi Surya who accidentally opened the emergency exit on an IndiGo flight. Biased view

It is not nice to misgender a person, calling them a name they associate with pain and hurt ... The ideas and thoughts we present must be respectful of other human beings. This is no longer self-censure but is the giving of basic dignity to other human beings. Calling transgender people 'transgenders' is dehumanising as well. I wish that the columnist understands that the column he wrote is biased. This bias can easily imprint on people. Basic respect and understanding is the cornerstone of human identity.

Apropos of Wrestlers Pin WFI Chief Singh on mat (Jan 19). It is shameful for the WFI president to take advantage of players. His acts may cause some young people to be afraid to pursue sports as a career. I commend the wrestlers for protesting against him to defend other female wrestlers.

LOSS OF A CRUCIAL BUFFER ALONG COAST HURTING KERALA

UNNIKRISHNAN S @ T'Puram

Southern state worst affected by coastal erosion in India, 2nd only to West Bengal. Coastal communities bear the brunt of climate change and human intervention

DISAPPEARING BEACHES

REENA Williams lives in constant fear of sea waves devouring her modest one-room house at Valiyathura, near the popular Kovalam beach, in Thiruvananthapuram. Reinforced with large boulders, a sea wall, in touching distance from the outer wall of her house, can lull one into a sense of security. But, it also serves to paper over the lack of a beach buffer along the coast in the area.

The presence of the sea wall, however, gives the 36-year-old little comfort. "The place where my original house once stood was taken by the sea three years ago. That house also had the protection of a sea wall," she recalls. Her's was part of the third row of houses in the area that was destroyed. A good number of her friends and relatives shifted to other locations they could afford. A Food Corporation of India (FCI) warehouse, near the Valiyathura pier, has since been the refuge of as many as 128 of the poorest families. All along the coast, which also happens to be Kerala's most densely populated areas, similar stories of personal loss abound. The chief lament is for the disappearance of beaches that once stood as protection from nature's fury.

Kerala found a spot on the world tourism map mainly on account of its famed beaches. But many of these beaches have eroded irreversibly. Nearly half of the 600km coastline has been affected, triggering concerns of large-scale rehabilitation in the years to come. Studies reveal that the state has suffered the second highest coastal erosion in the country after West Bengal.

Contributing factors

Coastal erosion is largely linked to climate change and man-made intervention. The scientific community is of the opinion that human mediation, in the form of construction of harbours, sea walls, breakwaters, etc, have made the coast more vulnerable to the impact of climate change. It is here that the importance of beaches is most felt.

"The world has realised the importance of beaches as a geomorphological feature that offers the best natural protection to the coast. The impact due to climate change is gradual and it can be further minimised by the presence of beaches. Our intrusions into the sea with structures, rather than climate change-induced tidal waves, are more to blame for sea-level rise," says K V Thomas, a former scientist with the National Centre for Earth Science Studies (NCESS), an autonomous research centre under the Union Ministry of Earth Sciences.

Coastal erosion accelerated after efforts were made to modify the estuaries to facilitate harbours. Chellanam, in Ernakulam, experienced it in 1928 after the sand bar at the mouth of Kochi harbour was cut open. A similar intervention in Poonthura, Thiruvananthapuram, in 1970 accelerated erosion in Valiyathura and Shanghumugham. The coast is considered a continuum and any disruption at one location has its impact on the adjoining coast.

A J Vijayan, founder secretary of the National Fishworkers Forum, says coast-saving measures have complicated the social and ecological problems associated with the issue of coastal erosion.

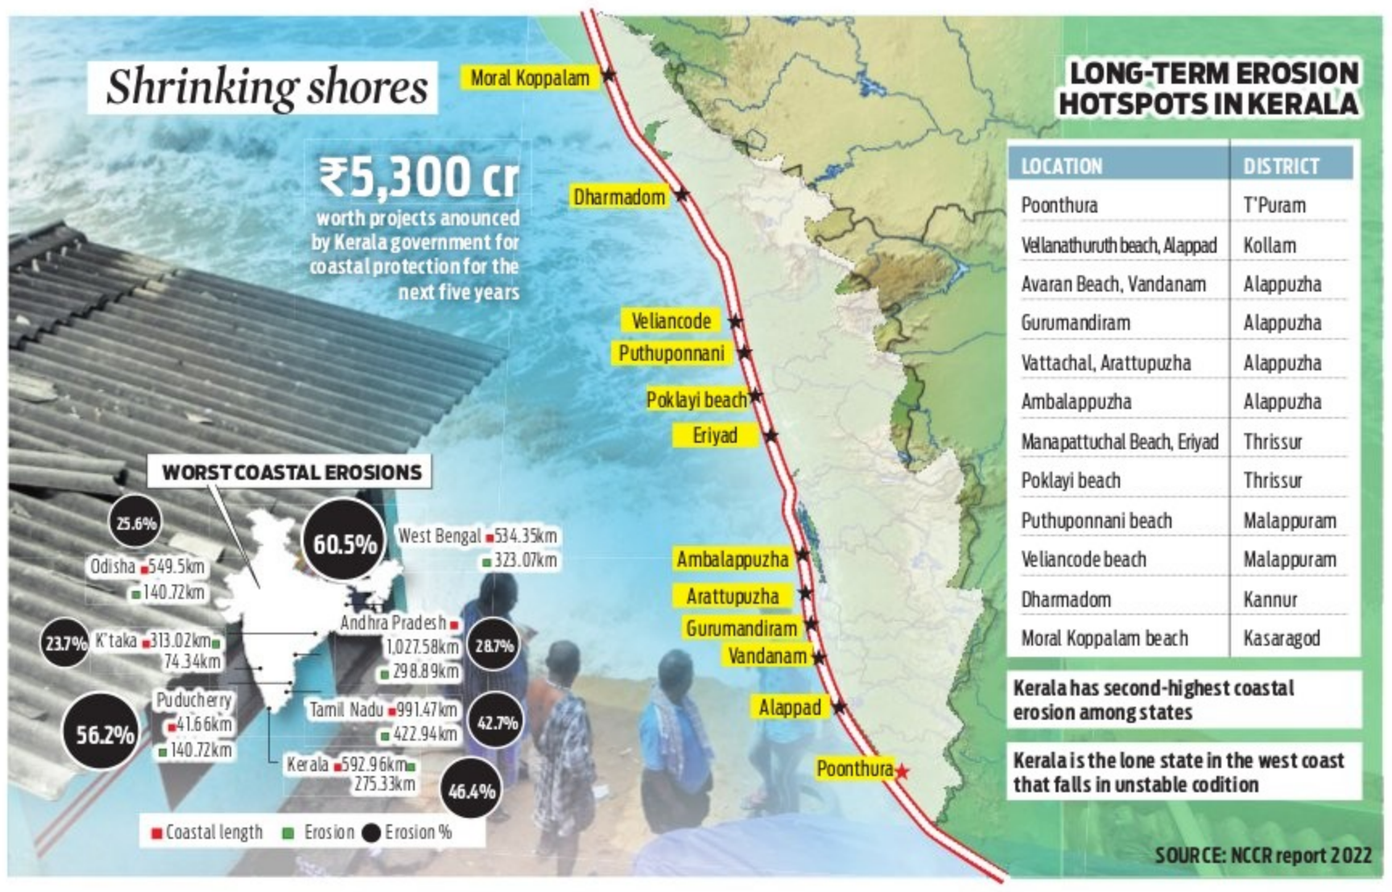
Kerala has 25 harbours, the most of any state. "Harbours were the result of a policy to promote mechanisation. When harbours resulted in further coastal erosion, people in those localities started demanding sea walls. When sea walls affected their livelihood, people demanded harbours so that they could take their boats out to sea," said Vijayan. "Reduction in human intervention and rehabilitation of people are among the solutions to the issue," he adds.

Apart from harbours, sand mining has made the coast of Alappad, in Kollam, highly vulnerable. Moreover, the state's coast has also undergone seasonal changes. The sand is moved during the monsoon months, which starts in June, and the beach-building process starts from October. This process gets interrupted by the untimely storms which have the capacity to alter the sediment transportation which impact the beach formation.

A recent study by the National Institute of Ocean Technology (NIOT) found that climatic events, such as cyclones Ockhi and Tauktae, have accelerated coastal erosion.

Furthermore, experts say the state is at increased risk as more storms are likely to be formed as sea temperature rises as a result of climate change. Due to global warming the average sea level is rising in the order of 1.5 to 10 mm every year. This is expected to rise 60 cm in the next century.

"When water level increases the waves get more reach. The presence of beaches with good berm height minimises impact. But impact of sea water rise is felt through low-lying areas of the backwaters. Even a gradual rise results in water inundation," warns NCESS' Thomas.



Ram Setu's elevation as national monument on track: Govt tells SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

ON being informed by the Centra government that the 'proposal to declare Ram Setu as national monument and of national importance' is underway in the Union Ministry of Culture, the Supreme Court on Thursday granted BJP leader Subramanian Swamy liberty to submit a representation to the Union ministry.

A bench of CJI DY Chandrachud, Justices P S Narasimha and J B Pardiwala also directed centre to apprise the court about the decision. The bench also allowed Swamy, if he so desired to present additional material on the issue before the Union ministry.

"The Solicitor General states that a process is currently underway in the Union ministry. He states that the petitioner may submit additional communication if he may so wish. The court is to be informed of the decision taken. Now, it is disposed of but liberty to approach again," the order said.

Court's direction came in a plea which was preferred by Swamy wherein he had also sought for directing centre to engage Geological Survey of India and Archaeological Survey of India to conduct a detailed survey in respect to Ram Setu as "ancient monument of national importance."

Ram Setu, situated between the islands of Talaimannar in Srilanka and Dhanuskodi in the Indian state of Tamil Nadu stretches up to 48 km in length. According to history and evidenced by Ramayana, the bridge was constructed by Lord Rama to rescue his wife from the Lankan king, Ravana.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta submitted before the bench that the decision making process was going on. "Your Lordship need not invest time. Central government will take a call. Petitioner can make representation or send supplementary material if he so chooses," Mehta further added.

Earlier, centre had informed the court that the affidavit was "under consideration" and the "discussion is going on."

The former Rajya Sabha MP had also contended in the plea that Ram Setu also fulfilled all the set criteria for being called an ancient monument as it has a historical, archaeological or artistic interest to it.

Abortion into 29th week? SC for docs' panel

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Thursday asked director of AIIMS, Delhi to constitute a team of doctors to assess whether termination of a 29-week-old foetus – arisen out of a live-in relationship of an unmarried 20-year-old girl – can be conducted safely.

A bench of CJI DY Chandrachud, Justices PS Narasimha and JB Pardiwala directed the hospital to submit a report to the bench pursuant to medical examination today.

At this stage, we consider it appropriate to order that the petitioner is to be evaluated by an AIIMS medical board. We direct the director to constitute a medical team on January 20 to consider whether the termination of the pregnancy can be conducted without any threat to the life of the petitioner," the court said in its order.

It was argued in the plea that she had taken pills from a local pharmacist who had said it would cause an abortion but wasn't aware that the medication had not prevented the pregnancy & didn't know that it had progressed.

The plea further stated that in her 28th week of pregnancy she was feeling unwell so saw a doctor who informed her that she is over 28 weeks pregnant.

Built in record time, INS Vagir set to join Naval fleet on Jan 23

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

BUILT within the shortest time in the history of indigenously-manufactured submarines, the fifth Kalvari-class submarine INS Vagir is all set to be commissioned on January 23. The hull has been laid and it will be commissioned in presence of Chief of the Naval Staff Admiral R Hari Kumar.

These submarines are being built in India by the Mazagon Dock Shipbuilders Limited, Mumbai, under collaboration with Naval Group, France.

Four of the Kalvari class of submarines has already been commissioned into the Indian Navy. Vagsheer, the sixth and last of the class was launched in April 2022 and is expected to be commissioned in two years.

The Indian Navy on Thursday said, "Launched and named 'Vagir', the submarine in its new avatar has the distinction of having the lowest build time among all indigenously manufactured submarines till date."

It is important as while the Indian Navy's underwater combat arm is operating the submarines more than 20 years old, its manufacturing programmes are also running late. The first of the Kalvari-class submarines was commissioned in December 2017, after 18 years of project clearance given in 1999. The first was expected in 2012 and the last by 2020.

'Appointment will add value to bench, provide inclusion'

AS for R John Sathyan, the collegium rejected the Centre's objections to an article critical of Prime Minister Narendra Modi published in a news portal, which he had shared as also a social media post regarding the death of a medical aspirant by suicide in 2017. The collegium added that Kirpal's appointment would add value to the bench, provide inclusion and diversity.

Regarding the Centre's objection on his partner's nationality, the resolution says, "There is no reason to pre-suppose that the partner of the candidate, who is a Swiss National, would be inimically disposed to our country, since the country of his origin is a friendly nation. Many persons in high positions including present and past holders of constitutional offices have and have had spouses who are foreign Nationals."

In the case of John Sathyan, the Intelligence Bureau's report said he enjoyed a good personal and professional image. Also, nothing adverse had come to notice against his integrity. Besides, he did not have any overt political leanings. The resolution signed by Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud and justices S K Kaul and K M Joseph took note of them and said, "The adverse comments of the IB extracted above in respect of posts made by him i.e. sharing an article published in 'The Quint' and another post regarding committing of suicide by a medical aspirant candidate in 2017 will not impinge on the suitability, character or integrity of Shri Sathyan."

It also recommended for giving precedence to him in the matter of appointment over three other names (judicial officers Periyasamy Vadamalai, Ramachandran Kalaimathi and K Govindarajan Thilakavadi), whom the collegium recommended for elevation as Madras HC judges. The Collegium has also recommended names of five advocates for judgeship of the Madras HC, taking the total number of judges recommended for the high court to nine. While reiterating the candidatures of Amitesh Banerjee and Sakya Sen, whose names were first approved by the SC collegium in 2019 but were sent back, the resolution said, "It was not open to the Department to repeatedly send back the same proposal which has been reiterated by SC collegium after duly considering the objections of the Government."

Remarking that views on social media attributed to the candidate, do not furnish any foundation to infer that he is biased, the resolution also reiterated the candidature of Somasekhar Sundareshan. His file came back for reconsideration from the Centre for airing views in the social media on several matters that were the subject matter of consideration before the courts.

"Collegium is of the view that the views on social media attributed to the candidate, do not furnish any foundation to infer that he is biased. The issues on which opinions have been attributed to the candidate are in the public domain and have been extensively deliberated upon in the print and electronic media.

The manner in which the candidate has expressed his views does not justify the inference that he is a "highly biased opinionated person" or that he has been "selectively critical on the social media on the important policies, initiatives and directions of the Government" (as indicated in the objections of Department of Justice) nor is there any material to indicate that the expressions used by the candidate are suggestive of his links with any political party with strong ideological leanings. All citizens have the right to free speech and expression under Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution. Expression of views by a candidate does not disentitle him to hold a constitutional office so long as the person proposed for judgeship is a person of competence, merit and integrity," the resolution said.

PLASTICS, CO2 TO SUSTAINABLE FUEL

Researchers from University of Cambridge have developed a system that converts two waste streams into two chemical products at the same time – the first time this has been achieved in a solar-powered reactor. The reactor converts CO2 and plastics into different products that are useful in a range of industries. In tests, CO2 was converted into syngas, a key building block for sustainable liquid fuels, and plastic bottles were converted into glycolic acid, which is widely used in cosmetics industry. Converting plastics and greenhouse gases into useful and valuable products using solar energy is an important step in the transition to a more sustainable, circular economy.

DRONES TO COLLECT ENVIRONMENTAL DNA FOR MONITORING BIODIVERSITY

The specially-developed drone collects samples from tree branches | ETH ZURICH

Ecologists have developed an easier method to detect traces of genetic material left behind by living organisms left behind in the environment, called environmental DNA (eDNA), to catalogue and monitor biodiversity in a particular area. Based on these DNA traces, researchers can determine which species are present in a certain area. Obtaining samples from water or soil is easy, but other habitats – such as the forest canopy – are difficult for researchers to access. As a result, many species remain untracked in poorly explored areas. Now, researchers at ETH Zurich and the Swiss Federal Institute for Forest, Snow and Landscape Research WSL, and the company SPYGEN have partnered to develop a special drone to autonomously collect samples from tree branches in such areas. The drone is equipped with adhesive strips. When it lands on branches the material from the branch sticks to these strips.

BREAKTHROUGH ENABLES TINY E-BIOBOTS TO HELP IN MEDICARE

A path-breaking development in robotics has opened avenues for hybrid biological-cum-microelectronic centimetre-scale robots, called eBiobots, to sense and respond to toxins in the environment, biomarkers for disease, as well as conduct in-situ biopsies and analysis, minimally invasive surgery and even detect cancer. The hybrid 'e-Biobots' are first to combine soft materials, living muscle and microelectronics worked out by researchers from University of Illinois, Northwestern University and collaborating institutions. The researchers had earlier pioneered the development of biobots, powered by mouse muscle tissue grown on soft 3D-printed polymer skeleton and had demonstrated walking biobots in 2012 and light-activated biobots in 2016. Although the light activation facilitated a degree of movement control of the biobots, practical applications were limited by the question of how to deliver light pulses to the biobots outside of a lab setting. This was solved by integrating tiny wireless microelectronics and battery-free micro-LEDs to allow researchers to remotely control the e-Biobots. Now, wireless signals can be sent to the e-Biobots that stimulate the light-sensitive engineered mouse muscles to contract, moving the polymer legs so that the machines can actually 'walk'.

BMC in focus: PM unveils infra projects in Mumbai

Says the financial capital benefiting from double-engine govt

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

LAYING the foundation stone of projects worth Rs 38,000 crore in Mumbai, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday kick-started the BJP's campaign urging people to choose one government from Delhi to Mumbai, and in Maharashtra as well. The BJP and Shinde's faction of the Shiv Sena are looking to wrest control of the BMC from the Thackeray-headed camp. This was Modi's first visit to Mumbai after formation of the new government in Maharashtra. He said that Maharashtra CM Shinde and deputy chief minister Devendra Fadnavis are working on the path of development.

Addressing a rally at BKC in Mumbai, the PM said that development in Mumbai and Maharashtra are happening due to the double-engine government. "Earlier governments were ridden with corruption but things are improving under the leadership of Eknath Shinde and Devendra Fadavis. People should choose only one government from Delhi to Mumbai and in Maharashtra as well," PM said. "This is the first time since independence that India has the courage to turn its dreams into reality. Previously, only poverty was discussed and getting aid from the world was the only option. The world is showing faith in the resolve of India. Drawing inspiration from Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj, the spirit of 'Suraj' and 'Swaraj' is strongly evident in the double-engine government," Modi said. "Preparing Mumbai for the future is one of the key priorities of the double-engine government. Prior to 2014, the metro in Mumbai was limited to 10-11 km, now with a double-engine government metro it has reached a new speed as Mumbai is rapidly moving towards a 300-km metro network," PM said.

The PM also travelled in a Metro train in Mumbai on Thursday evening after inaugurating new services of the public transport system. He travelled in the metro train between Gundavali and Mogra stations and interacted with a group of youngsters, women and metro rail workers.

These two stations are part of the Metro line 7 phase 2, which was inaugurated by him. CM Shinde and deputy CM Fadnavis accompanied the PM during the ride. The PM inaugurated Mumbai Metro Rail lines 2A and 7 built at a cost of around Rs 12,600 crore at a function held at the MMRDA grounds in Bandra-Kurla Complex (BKC) earlier.

Nadda says TMC leaders siphoning central funds

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

KICKING off campaign ahead of the panchayat elections, BJP national president J P Nadda on Thursday accused the ruling Trinamool Congress in West Bengal of misappropriating Centre's fund. Slamming CM Mamata Banerjee, Nadda urged the voters to bring the BJP in power, be it in the rural polls or Labha elections in 2024.

"PM Narendra Modiji is giving money for your state. But didi (Mamata), your party leaders are filling up their pockets by misappropriating it. Corruption is everywhere in Bengal. Didi, what have you done to this state? If action is taken against your corrupt leaders, you start criticising Modiji. The people of the state has only way out, which is bringing the BJP in power, be it panchayat elections or Lok Sabha polls," Nadda told a rally at Bathuadahari in Nadia district.

After stopping the fund under the scheme since December 2021 citing irregularities, the Centre has recently approved ₹13,000 crore for building 11.34 lakh homes for the poor under the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojona (PMAY). "You have experienced misrule by the Congress, the CPM and the TMC. Now time has come to enjoy BJP's governance," Nadda said. His remark on alleged corruption by TMC leaders came at a time when the state witnessing protests by the poor accusing the ruling party functionaries availing the PMAY in blatant violation of prescribed norms.

"The Centre is sending money for PMAY and MGNREGA schemes. Modiji is giving money for constructing toilets. Didi, your party is not even sparing the poor people who deserve a toilet at their home," Nadda said. BJP leaders of Bengal, however, were disappointed as Nadda did not mention a single word about the implementation of Citizenship (Amendment) Act.

At the same time, the name of state BJP President CR Patil is doing the rounds for the state-in-charge of UP BJP. Patil has worked as In charge of PM Modi's Banaras seat since 2014, and has experience working in the northern state. Guj villagers boycott 17 lower-caste families over inter-caste marriage

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

SEVENTEEN families of the barber (Nai) community in Gujarat's Bhiloda Taluka's Bhutavad village have been facing a social boycott since a month after a man from the community married an upper-caste woman.

According to the boy's parents, Sachin Nai and the girl, an upper-caste girl belonging to the Chowdhary (Patel) community had eloped and married a few months ago without informing either side of the families. "But a few days ago, Sachin contacted the family and appeared in front of Gandhinagar police station. But since then my son has not been able to contact his family," said Subash Nai, father of Sachin.

"On the December 9th, I received the marriage certificate by post. As soon as the people in the village came to know, they boycotted 17 families of our community and are constantly pressurising us to send the girl back else they will not let even a single family stay in the village. They have also cut off our electricity and pelted stones at the house," he further said. Prabhudas who is one of the members of the 17 boycotted families said, "They have stopped selling milk and other groceries to the Nai families, children are not allowed to attend school, and even a pregnant woman is treated badly."

"We tried to talk to upper caste males, they are adamant on not allowing us to live in the village," she alleged and demanded that the district administration should intervene," Prabhudas said.

District Collector Narendra Meena said, "On Wednesday evening, the issue was brought to my knowledge. I have instructed the SDM and local officers to address the issue within 24 hours."

WINDING its way from Punjab to Jammu, Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra on Thursday saw him telling the people that he has returned to his roots and come to share the sorrow of Jammu & Kashmir.

Rahul alleged that the BJP government was diverting the attention of people from the main issues. "As I was coming here, I thought I was returning home, the land from where my ancestors came. I am coming back to my roots. When a person moves towards the roots, he learns a lot about himself, people and the country," said Rahul while addressing a rally on arrival in Lakhapur in the border district of Kathua in J&K.

It is the final phase of yatra, which will culminate with the mega rally in Srinagar on January 30.

Wearing the trademark white T-shirt, Rahul said, "In next nine days, I will be in J&K. I have come to learn from you. I entered J&K with my head bowed. I want to tell you that regardless of religion, or your economic status, or age, you belong to this country," he said.

State Congress leaders and National Conference president Farooq Abdullah welcomed the Congress leader. At a customary function, Punjab Congress chief Raja Warring gave the party flag to J&K unit chief Vikar Rasool Wani. Rahul was presented with a Dogra turban. In Punjab, the Congress leader again lashed out at the BJP-RSS for their divisive politics even as other party leaders appeared to rue the exit of their former colleague Manpreet Badal to the saffron camp.

Addressing a rally in Pathankot, Rahul claimed that under PM's Fasal Bima Yojana, farmers were unable to get compensation for the damage to their crops. Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge accused the Hindutva party of worshiping the Manusmriti instead of following the Constitution.

However, most state leaders voiced their concern over "paratroop leaders" coming from other parties. Leader of the Opposition of Punjab Partap Singh Bajwa hit out at Manpreet Si ngh Badal who had yesterday joined the BJP after resigning from the Congress.

LoP post for Congress? Jury is still out

Weeks after Gujarat assembly results were declared, the Congress appointed the former Gujarat unit chief and Anklav MLA Amit Chavda as the Congress Legislative Party Leader. Shailesh Parmar, MLA from Danilimda, will be the Deputy Leader in the Gujarat House. However, BJP sources indicate that the party is not in the mood accept the Congress choice, as the party does not have 10% of its MLAs in the 182-member Assembly. Sources say the government is preparing to bring an ordinance in the assembly session starting February to deny Congress the status of main opposition party legally.

MP: Probe into poisoning, burning of wild jumbos

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

THE National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA) has sought a report from the Madhya Pradesh forest department into the alleged poaching and burning of a wild elephant in Bandhavgarh Tiger Reserve (BTR) in Shahdol district.

Acting on a complaint in the matter by Bhopal-based wildlife activist Ajay Dubey, the NTCA wrote on Tuesday to the state forest department's top brass and the BTR regional director and sought a detailed factual report in the matter.

On January 11, Dubey had written to the NTCA alleging poisoning of a wild elephant and burning of the tusker's remains in Panpatha buffer zone of BTR in Shahdol district.

He had attached along with the complaint, the pictures of the elephant, which was allegedly poached and burnt later. The pictures of the bony remains believed to be of the same elephant too were enclosed with the complaint.

Not only Dubey, but also local villagers in the buffer zone of the BTR had alleged the killing of the elephant and later burning of its remains.

Ravindra Yadav, a resident of Gauri Ghat village, which is located close to the spot where the wild tusker was allegedly poisoned and burnt, alleged that the wild elephant was poisoned by an animal poacher Rajendra Yadav in October 2022.

"The elephant was treated by the BTR staff, but it died later, after which it was burnt in the same forest area. When we raised the matter with BTR guards, we were told to stay away from the spot, failing which we would be held for wildlife crime," Ravindra said.

While denying any wild elephant poaching in the BTR, the BTR deputy director Lovit Bharti had said that the bones found from the forest area had already been sent for forensic analysis to the Wildlife Institute of India in Dehradun, and anything more on the issue could be said only after the report of the forensic analysis is received by the tiger reserve.

This newspaper had reported the story on January 15, 2023 The BTR, spread in Umaria and Shahdol districts of east MP, has been home to 50-odd wild elephants.

Cracks in another guesthouse after PWD building razed in Joshimath

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

EVEN as the relief work in Joshimath has gathered pace, the threat to life has also increased. Despite the government's continuous efforts towards relief and rescue work, the number of cracks in the houses is increasing daily.

The situation in the land submergence area is constantly raising concerns for the administration as Garhwal Mandal Vikas Nigam (GMVN) guest house, where a team of scientists is staying for inspection, has also developed cracks. Fresh cracks have also been observed in the Sanskrit College buildings built in relief camps. The scientists and officials who came to Joshimath for investigation used to stay at the VIP guest house of GMVN near Gandhi Maidan.

Macron vows to proceed with pension plans despite protests

PARIS

HUNDREDS of thousands protested on the streets of Paris and other French cities on Thursday amid nationwide strikes against plans to raise the retirement age, but President Emmanuel Macron insisted he would press ahead with the proposed pension reforms.

During a news conference at a French-Spanish summit in Barcelona, Spain, Macron said that "we must do that reform" to "save" the pension system.

"We will do it with respect, in a spirit of dialogue but also determination and responsibility," he added. French workers would have to work longer before receiving a pension under the new rules—with the nominal retirement age rising from 62 to 64.

More than 200 rallies were staged around France on Thursday, including a large one in Paris involving all France's major unions.

Unions argue the pension overhaul threatens hard-fought rights, and propose a tax on the wealthy or more payroll contributions from employers to finance the pension system.

Laurent Berger, head of the CFDT union, called the government's plans an 'unfair' reform and called on workers to "peacefully come (to the streets) to say they disagree."

Police unions who are opposed to the retirement reform are also taking part, while those who are on duty are bracing for potential violence if extremist groups join the demonstrations.

The ministry of National Education said some 34% to 42% of teachers were on strike, depending on schools.

French Labor Minister Olivier Dussopt acknowledged 'concerns' prompted by the pension plans. He justified the choice to push back the retirement age because the government rejected other options involving raising taxes or reducing pension amounts. The French government is formally presenting the pension bill on Monday.

The planned changes provide that workers must have worked for at least 43 years to be entitled to full pension.

For those who do not fulfil that condition, like many women who interrupted their career to raise their children, the retirement age would remain unchanged at 67. AP

key moments in JACINDA Ardern's life as Premier

HERE ARE FIVE MOMENTS THAT MARKED THE LEADERSHIP OF THE 42-YEAR-OLD ARDERN, WHO DECLARED ON THURSDAY, "I KNOW THAT I NO LONGER HAVE ENOUGH IN THE TANK"

BABY MAKES UN HISTORY

Ardern won accolades in September 2018 when she was photographed kissing and bouncing her then three-month-old daughter, Neve, inside the hall of the UN General Assembly—the first such appearance by a baby in the organisation's history

She was only the second PM to give birth while in office after Pakistan's Benazir Bhutto in 1990

MOSQUE ATTACK

Ardern won widespread praise for her response to the March 2019 Christchurch attacks, when a white supremacist gunman targeted two mosques during Friday prayers, killing 51 and seriously injuring another 40

When she donned a headscarf and comforted victims' families after the shooting, it resonated globally. She would later describe it as a spontaneous gesture of respect to the Muslim community

She also won plaudits for swiftly enacting gun law reforms and pushing social media giants to address online hate speech

MOSQUE ATTACK

Ardern won a second term by a landslide in October 2020, snatching a clear parliamentary majority as she rode a wave of 'Jacindamania' popularity underpinned by her handling of the Covid-19 pandemic

She campaigned on her government's success in eliminating community transmission of the virus, which at time had claimed 25 lives in a population of 5 million

PANDEMIC PROTESTS

Two years after winning her second term, a small but vocal segment of New Zealand's population turned against Ardern's handling of the pandemic

Across four weeks, starting in February 2022, demonstrators occupied the lawn in front of the Beehive parliament building in Wellington

Ardern refused to meet the protestors and said they were using "intimidation and harassment" to get their point across

More than 100 people were eventually arrested, with Ardern later describing the situation as 'incredibly difficult' and 'challenging'

I AM HUMAN AND FOR ME, IT'S TIME, SAYS NEW ZEALAND PM ARDERN

The country will choose its next prime minister in a general election on October 14

WELLINGTON

NEW Zealand PM Jacinda Ardern, who became a global icon of the left and exemplified a new style of leadership, said on Thursday that she would leave office.

"I am human. We give as much as we can for as long as we can and then it's time. And for me, it's time," she said at a meeting of members of her Labour Party.

"I believe that leading a country is the most privileged job anyone could ever have, but also one of the more challenging," Ardern said. "You cannot and should not do it unless you have a full tank, plus a bit in reserve for those unexpected challenges."

Fighting back tears, Jacinda Ardern told reporters in Napier that Feruary 7 would be her last day as the prime minister after five and a half years in office.

On Thursday, she cited her government's actions on housing affordability, climate change and child poverty as further sources of pride.

Lawmakers in her Labour Party will vote for a new leader on Sunday. If no candidate gets at least two-thirds support from the caucus when Labour lawmakers vote on Sunday, then the leadership contest will go to the wider party membership. Ardern has recommended the party chose her replacement by the time she steps down.

New Zealand will choose its next prime minister in a general election to be held on October 14, Ardern announced.

However, Ardern said she would continue to serve as an electorate MP until then. Her departure leaves a void at the top of the Labour party, with her deputy Grant Robertson swiftly ruling out a tilt at the leadership.

New Zealand PM Jacinda Ardern with her fiancee Clark Gayford leave a press conference after announcing her resignation in New Zealand on Thursday | AP

Ardern said she didn't have any immediate plans after leaving office, other than family commitments with her daughter, Neve, and her fiancé, Clarke Gayford, after the pandemic thwarted their wedding plans. "And so to Neve, Mum is looking forward to being there when you start school this year," Ardern said. "And to Clarke, let's finally get married."

New Zealand Opposition Leader Christopher Luxon said, "I just did want to acknowledge and to thank the prime minister for her service to our country. I do want to say that I respect her for taking on what is a difficult and demanding job, and that she's obviously given her all... I wish nothing but her and her family all the very best in the future."

Ardern became an inspiration to women around the world after first winning the top job in 2017. Agencies

European allies pledge fresh artillery for Ukraine

KYIV

A trio of European allies pledged missiles and artillery for Ukraine on Thursday as Kyiv urged partners to scale-up support "considerably" ahead of a major donor meeting. As Ukraine ramped up calls for tanks and longer-range weapons ahead of a key meeting in Germany on Friday designed to discuss military aid to Ukraine, UK announced it would send 600 Brimstone missiles to the war-torn country. Denmark said it would donate 19 French-made Caesar howitzers to Ukraine and Sweden promised to send its Archer artillery system, a modern mobile howitzer requested by Kyiv for months.

EU chief Charles Michel said he believed that tanks "must be delivered" as he visited Kyiv. As the pledges came in, senior Ukrainian presidential aide Mykhaylo Podolyak said it was "time to stop trembling at (Russian leader Vladimir) Putin and take the final step."

"Ukraine needs tanks; tanks—the key to end war properly," Podolyak said.

Meanwhile, Germany faced mounting pressure to supply battle tanks to Kyiv as Western allies conferred Thursday on how best to support Ukraine.

Germany's new defence minister, Boris Pistorius declared that German weapons systems delivered so far have proven their worth. Agencies

Setback for Google as SC refuses relief against NCLAT order

Apex court directed NCLAT to decide on the appeal, and dispose of it by March 31; gave seven days time to the US tech giant to deposit 10% of its total penalty

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

IN a big setback for Google, the Supreme Court of India on Thursday refused to hear the plea of Google against National Company Law Appellate Tribunal's (NCLAT) order that refused to give an interim stay on ₹1,337 crore penalty on it.

The court has directed NCLAT to decide on the appeal, and dispose of it by March 31, 2023. However, the apex court gave seven days time to the American tech giant to deposit 10% of its total penalty.

The bench headed by Chief Justice DY Chandrachud said since the appeal is pending before NCLAT, it is desisting from expressing any opinion (on the merit of the CCI order). "We are not inclined to interfere with NCLAT'S order. We request the NCLAT to dispose it of within March 31. Any expression of opinion of this court on merits would affect the case before NCLAT." Appearing for Google, senior advocate AM Singhvi had argued that the CCI had no right to dictate how Google carried out its business. He contended that if consumers chose Google, it did not establish abuse of dominance.

Appearing for Google, senior advocate AM Singhvi argued CCI had no right to dictate how Google carried out its business

SC bench in its order said CCI findings can't be said to be without jurisdiction or with manifest error

In Oct 2022, CCI fined Google ₹1,337.76 cr for exploiting its dominant position with respect to Android

GOOGLE MAINTAINED CCI'S RULING IS A SETBACK FOR THE ENTIRE ANDROID ECOSYSTEM IN INDIA

The SC bench in its order said findings by CCI can't be said to be without jurisdiction or with manifest error." In October 2022, the Competition Commission of India (CCI) fined Google ₹1,337.76 crore for exploiting its dominant position with respect to Android. The competition watchdog has also asked Google to cease and desist from indulging in anti-competitive practices. The order said Google has leveraged its dominant position in the app store market for Android OS to enter as well as protect its position in non-OS specific web browser market through Google Chrome App and thereby contravened the provisions of Section 4(2)(e) of the Act.

However, Google maintained CCI's ruling is a setback for the entire Android ecosystem in India, which has been built and nurtured by Google over last decade. It said the ruling could lead to increased costs for consumers, reduced choice and competition, and less innovation. Subsequently, the tech giant approached NCLAT against the CCI order, which refused to stay the latter's order. Later on Google filed its petition in the Supreme Court.

Experts have termed the SC order a landmark judgment. Naval Chopra, Partner, Competition Law Practice, Shardul Amarchand Mangaldas & Co, says: "CCIs order, upheld by the SC today, helps take Android to its original mission, of being an open source, free, software, absent Google's restrictions."

Realty CIRP changes comes with challenges

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE proposed changes in the resolution process of real estate firms come with its own challenges, according to experts tracking the development.

While it safeguards solvent projects by avoiding Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (CIRP) against the entire company, it may become a difficult task to track where the money lent from banks is spent.

Sanjeev Ahuja, an insolvency professional and founder of Insolvency Clinic, says a real estate project, unless it is a special purpose vehicle, is part of a corporate entity. "So, if you initiate CIRP against a project, how you identify which money got spent where, whether a particular Committee of Creditors member lent for half of the projects or some of the flats, whether some money got used in a completed project and some in an unfinished project. There will be much confusion. it's easier said than done," he said, adding that they would have to wait for the IBBI to come up with a proper standard operating procedure (SoP) or frequently asked questions (FAQ) to understand how they are going to do it.

Prashant Thakur, Sr. director & head – research, ANAROCK Group, says by allowing proceedings only against specific projects that have defaulted, rather than the entire company, it could help minimise disruption to the company's ongoing operations and preserve value for stakeholders. "It may reduce the burden on courts and other authorities responsible for overseeing the resolution process. It may also help to increase the chances of successful resolution," added Thakur.

'IT RULES WILL BE POSTED FOR CONSULTATION'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DAYS after proposing changes in IT Rules 2021, Rajeev Chandrasekhar, Minister of State for Electronics and IT, said these amendments will also be put through open consultation.

The minister said as is the practice meticulously followed by the government, these amendments will also be put through open consultations to reflect, discuss and deliberate. The government's proposed amendment to the information technology rules mandates the government to take down any content from social media or any platform that has been identified as fake by the establishment. However, the move was criticised by many as termed it akin to censorship.

"The draft amendments to IT Rules are in pursuance of our commitment to an Open, Safe & Trusted and Accountable Internet. We have circulated amendments for consultation with stakeholders," said the minister.

The ministry had earlier initiated public consultation on amendments proposed to the said rules in relation to online gaming, the last date for which was January 17, 2023. The last date for the same has now been extended to January 25, 2023. The ministry should also hold a consultation on the proposed amendment to rule 3(1)(b)(v) of the IT Rules with stakeholders on January 24, 2023.

"Government to hold public consultation on proposed amendment of IT rules with respect to fact checking misinformation or patently false and untrue or misleading information on social media and other intermediary platforms," reads the press note.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

FOLLOWING its full separation from Flipkart and change of domicile to India, Walmart-backed fintech platform PhonePe on Thursday announced it has raised $350 million in funding from global growth equity firm General Atlantic at a pre-money valuation of $12 billion.

With this, it became the country's most valuable payments firm. In December 2020, PhonePe was valued at $5.5 billion. PhonePe plans to deploy the new funds to make significant investments in infrastructure, including the development of data centres and help build financial services offerings at scale in the country. The company also plans to invest in new businesses, including insurance, wealth management, and lending. Founded in December 2015, PhonePe today has over 400 million registered users, and it has also digitised over 35 million offline merchants.

India to be $3.7 trillion economy in 2023: RBI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

AT a time when the world is staring at recession, the Indian economy will consolidate its position in the global economy. The size of Indian economy is expected to reach $3.7 trillion during this year, making it the fifth largest economy in the world, said Reserve Bank of India (RBI) bulletin.

"At current prices and exchange rates, India will be a $3.7 trillion economy in 2023, maintaining its lead over the UK as the fifth-largest economy in the world," said the RBI in its recent bulletin released on Thursday. As per the International Monetary Fund's (IMF) calculations, India will move into fourth place in 2025 and into third place in 2027 as a $ 5.4 trillion economy, noted the bulletin. On the inflation front, the central bank targets to bring prices further down. It targets to restrict inflation under its tolerance zone of 2-6 % during the current year.

"Recent data arrivals indicate the first milestone of monetary policy is being passed, bringing inflation into the tolerance band. The objective during 2023 is to tether inflation therein so that it aligns with the target by 2024, the second milestone," said RBI.

Annual retail inflation rose 5.72% in December against 5.88% in last month, dipping below 6% for a second straight month after having stayed above RBI's tolerance for 10 months. Year 2023-24 may see fall in real GDP from 7% in 2022-23 (NSO estimates) to 6.5 % as projected in monetary policy report of September 2022, noted the bulletin.

FPO chance to be part of Adani Group's wealth creation, says CFO

SACHIN KUMAR @ Mumbai

THE ₹20,000 crore follow-on public offer (FPO) of Adani Enterprises is a chance for retail investors to be a part of wealth creation journey, said a senior official of the company.

Billionaire Gautam Adani-led company aims to expand its retail investor base through this mega offer, said Jugeshinder Singh, Chief Financial Officer, Adani Group.

"We wanted to expand the shareholder register, to bring in new shareholders. An FPO allows us to increase the participation of the common Indian. It allows them to be a part of the wealth creation that Adani Enterprises is taking," said Singh, addressing the press conference in Mumbai. "It's important for our founder to reach as many people as we can," he added.

The mega offer, in which 35 % of the shares are reserved for retail investors, will open for subscription on January 27. Adani Group has no plan to enter telecom sector but is interested in water segment, he said. "Being the largest infrastructure player, and having been there in almost the entire spectrum of this critical segment for the past two decades or so, we're very keen on tapping the water segment by entering water purification, treatment and distribution areas," Singh said.

He said current volatility in the stock market will not have any impact on fund raising as the company believes in long-term value creation.

"We can't make decisions based on short-term volatility aspects. We are not trying to maximise each market situation. Since 2015-16, we have raised capital based on business needs. We aim for long-term capital creation," he said. The conglomerate will hive-off business when they mature and are independent financially, said the official. As of September 2022, promoters held 72.63% stake in Adani Enterprises, while 27.37% was held by the public. Among public shareholders, foreign portfolio investors held 15.59 % stake.

Air traffic grew 47% in 2022, lower than pre-pandemic level in 2019

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

DOMESTIC airlines carried 12.3 crore passengers in calendar year (CY) 2022 as against 8.3 crore in the CY2021, thereby registering an annual growth of 47 %, according to traffic data released by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) on Thursday.

The numbers, however, missed to breach the pre-Covid volumes as in the CY2019, domestic airlines had carried 14.4 crore passengers.

While domestic air traffic was muted in the first few months of CY2022 due to the third wave of covid-19 pandemic, the past few months has seen a rise in traffic.

According to the DGCA data, domestic air traffic grew 13.7% year-on-year (YoY) to 1.27 crore passengers in December 2022 as against 1.12 crore passengers in December 2021. In the pre-covid era, normal traffic per month stood at about 1.2 crore passengers.

Meanwhile, IndiGo's market share came down to 54.9% in December 2022 as against 55.7% a month ago. Tata group-owned airlines- Air India and Vistara had a market share of 9.2% each last month. For the full CY2022, IndiGo's market share was the highest at 56.1%, followed by Vistara at 9.2% and Go First at 8.8%. SpiceJet had a market share of 8.7% in 2022 even as it faced multiple challenges, including technical snags and cap on its operations.

Ratings agency ICRA had recently estimated that despite fully opening the domestic and international operations, domestic airlines are expected to report a net loss of Rs 15,000 crore to Rs 17,000 crore in the financial year 2022-23. The losses are mainly attributed to elevated aviation turbine fuel (ATF) prices and the recent depreciation of the Indian rupee.

Wrestlers meet Thakur as countdown begins for WFI chief

With the sports ministry not wanting the protest to last long, efforts are on to pacify grapplers

ANMOL GURUNG @ New Delhi

IN a late-night drama, top wrestlers met sports minister Anurag Thakur over dinner at his residence on Thursday. Olympic medallists Bajrang Punia and Sakshi Malik, World Championships medallists Vinesh Phogat and Anshu Malik were among the wrestlers who went to meet the minister. It is understood that the ministry wants to give the protest against Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh a logical ending before the third day. The wrestlers have been demanding not just the WFI chief's removal but disbanding of the federation and its affiliated state units.

Though there were reports that the WFI chief has been asked to step down, but until late on Thursday there was no official confirmation.

Vinesh Phogat, Sakshi Malik, Anshu Malik & Bajrang Punia sit on 'dharna' to protest against the WFI chief, at Jantar Mantar in New Delhi on Thursday | SHEKHAR YADAV

The day too witnessed its share of drama. Passion was running high as more wrestlers joined the protest. 'Jai Mata Di' chants could be heard every now and then. Top wrestlers of the country were joined by other illustrious teammates Deepak Punia, Ravi Dahiya, and even coaches Mahavir Singh Phogat and Satpal Singh. Junior wrestlers, youth-level wrestlers, former wrestlers, officials from state federations were present to show solidarity. The excitement was palpable. There were signs of anxiety as well, especially when Vinesh, Bajrang, Sakshi and her husband Satyawart Kadian returned from their meeting with the government.

Multiple Commonwealth Games medallist Babita Phogat, who is also a BJP member, has been sent by the government for mediation and discussions took place between the stakeholders. However, the meeting between sports secretary Sujata Chaturvedi, Director General SAI Sandip Pradhan and joint secretary (sports) Kunal did not go as per the wrestlers' liking.

They seem somewhat disappointed with the outcome of the meeting, in which they were asked to end their protest and the ministry has given assurance to address their grievances. However, the wrestlers were not satisfied and have threatened that if no action is taken against Brij Bhushan, then they will file an FIR. Vinesh, who had spoken about wrestlers facing sexual exploitation on Wednesday, said if need be they are willing to file multiple FIRs against the WFI chief. "We have more wrestlers now who have said they too faced such an ordeal," said Vinesh. Bajrang said that they did not want WFI chief's resignation alone. He said they wanted his removal and the WFI disbanded.

Women's camp likely to be shifted from Lucknow

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

AS the wrestlers' protest at Jantar Mantar in New Delhi entered the second day, a lot of developments happened on the ground and off it as well. Even as a delegation of wrestlers including Bajrang Punia, Vinesh Phogat and Sakshi Malik met sports ministry and SAI officials on Thursday afternoon, there was also an indication of a change in the venue of the camp for women wrestlers from Lucknow to the national capital. Sources also said that support staff for the women wrestlers could also be changed though no official communication was made regarding these developments till the filing of this report. Double Worlds medallist Vinesh has specifically spoken against the venue in Lucknow on Wednesday and in the past as well.

"We have requested many times to move the camp away from Lucknow. Why does it happen only there? Because it's easy for them to prey on the women wrestlers," Vinesh had said. Given the protest, the sports ministry on Wednesday cancelled the Lucknow national camp. It was due to start on Wednesday. "The women's camp could be held at IG Stadium in New Delhi. Even the support staff may be changed. An official order in this regard is still awaited but that could be the first step towards pacifying the wrestlers," said a source.

WFI chief may leave country

Meanwhile, Bajrang claimed that WFI chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh is planning to leave the country. "We have been informed by sources that he (WFI chief) is planning to leave the country. His ouster will not serve the purpose. He will make way for a dummy candidate as he has full control over state units," he said.

> As a woman and former athlete and presently a sports administrator, I am deeply concerned and disturbed by the latest developments in Indian wrestling, where a section of the athletes has brought serious allegations against a senior official of the sport

> — PT Usha, IOA president

Emergency meet on Jan 22

Amid the agitation, the WFI has called an emergency executive council and emergency general body meeting in Ayodhya on Sunday. "The meeting has single point agenda which is to discuss the allegations made against the president," a WFI official told this daily.

India surpass Wales challenge, Black Sticks next

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Bhubaneswar

WIN by an eight goal margin against Wales. Or score seven unanswered goals with six of them coming from open play situations. That was the ask India were left with if they wanted to qualify directly for the quarterfinals from Pool D. They were left with this particular mountain to climb after England's accomplished 4-0 win over Spain in the penultimate pool match on Thursday. So, England's goal difference was +7.

History was against the Men In Blue. Only once before in World Cup history had they enjoyed a seven-goal win; Ghana in 1975. And, no, it was important to top the pool as opposed to featuring in the cross-overs. Finish second and New Zealand lay in wait. Beat them and the potential reward? Old friends, Belgium, in the last eight. Finish first? Potentially, a more manageable looking fixture, at least on paper, against Germany, plus the added carrot of a five-day rest. There was a very real feeling of jeopardy, almost as if their medium-term future in the competition depended on their next 60 minutes.

From the way India began the match, you could immediately see what they were after. Goals. Lots of them. Twice in the opening minutes, Akashdeep Singh engineered chances. There was a clear urgency about their play but they couldn't marry intent with execution. At one point in the first quarter, Manpreet Singh tried a Hail Mary from inside his own half. It sailed over the attacker's head and almost hit the railing behind the goal without bouncing. When they did have a clear sight on goal, goalkeeper Toby Reynolds-Cotterill, who has the experience of being called up for Great Britain at the senior level, saved with minimal fuss.

India celebrate a goal scored by Akashdeep Singh against Wales | DEBADATTA MALLICK

Results: Pool C: Malaysia 3-2 New Zealand; Netherlands 14-0 Chile; Pool D: England 4-0 Spain; India 4-2 Wales

The hosts did belatedly get on the score-sheet before multiplying it with more than 30 minutes to play. But the drama on this slightly nippy Thursday night was just getting started. Before the tournament began, Wales, whose players self-fund at least half of all hockey-related trips, had vowed to not be also-rans. They showed their capacity by levelling the score to pretty much kill India's chances of advancing directly. While the visitors, especially Reynolds-Cotteriil, equipped themselves well, the hosts did not have a good day. They allowed scoreboard pressure to play with their minds pretty much from pushback. At halftime, coach Graham Reid was calling for some patience. His plea was sandwiched by multiple displays of spells where they just threw bodies forward without a proper attacking game plan. It offered a sharp contrast to what Netherlands had done earlier in the day en route to a World Cup record 14-0 defeat of Chile. They hardly got out of second gear. India seemed to be playing the entire match with the handbrake off. They almost tried to will the ball inside the goal. The net effect was the fluidity they had shown against England was conspicuous by its absence. "We played well in patches," Reid said after the match. While the positive is the number of circle entries they eventually created, the negative was the way in which they tried to take the chances they created. "Didn't execute them properly," the Australian added. "We crowded the circle, got in each other's way a little bit."

Ultimately, some of the pressure finally paid off as they scored two more to win the match 4-2. On Sunday night, New Zealand lie in wait. Get past that... oh well, let them get past the Black Sticks before talking about Tuesday's likely opponents.

Hardik sits out

As expected, midfielder Hardik Singh, whose midfield drives and ability to weave past traffic set him apart in the opening two games, sat out the match.

Hockey's diversity problem out in open

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Bhubaneswar

TUCKED away in a small corner on the websites of most national hockey federations is a pledge of equality. It speaks about equal opportunity for all players irrespective of sex, religion, orientation and race. That last identifier — race — is important as it assures a pathway for players from all communities from the grassroots to the national team. However, what's laid out on the internet, or on a piece of paper, can be tricky to execute.

There still exists a perception that hockey, at least at the very top end, is an elite sport. England coach Paul Revington spoke about it after the team's training session. "I think all the countries probably need to keep working on that area," he told this daily. "I wouldn't say it's perfect but again, I wouldn't say it's not open and free for everyone. I think any athlete and individual that enters the programme and really wants to do well has equal opportunities from a Great Britain perspective."

Great Britain seems like a natural starting point because the debate around a lack of diversity among hockey players has exploded in the last couple of years there. Rhys Smith, a 25-year-old who has played for the senior sides of both GB and England, felt the under-representation so much he began a project called "Hockey Inner City' to tackle the issue. "Hockey is very much dominated by people from privileged backgrounds and people that have gone to private schools," he had told Sky Sports last year. Another young player, Tendo Kimuli, faced vile abuse from the crowd because of his skin colour.

A research put forth by The Hockey Museum in 2022 made for grim reading. It said that 'Smith is only one of estimated 21 ethnically diverse men that have represented England or GB at international level in the last 50 years, with the majority of those players of South Asian origin. Four diverse ethnic women have featured for England or GB since 1978', the same Sky Sports article mentioned.

Wales coach, Dan Newcombe, explains why the sport has the problem of under-representation from minority communities. "In the UK, hockey is played a lot in the independent schools," he explains. "The profile of the individuals in the independent schools tends to be less diverse but hopefully that's changing."

Lakshya out, Saina handed reality check

ANMOL GURUNG @ New Delhi

ONE game in the bag, Lakshya Sen had his nose in front against Rasmus Gemke of Denmark.

But the narrative changed very soon with Gemke taking the second game to force a decider in men's singles second round of the ongoing India Open Super 750 event. After a polished performance against India counterpart HS Prannoy in the opening round, the onus was on the World No 12 to forget the missed opportunities in the second game and find his mojo in the third game. But he got off to the worst possible start in the decider and was left playing catch-up. Lakshya showed his willingness and drive to close the gap, but Gemke always seemed to be ahead. The duo's points graph almost met at 14-13 but in the end, Lakshya missed out on the closing stages to lose the game and with that the match. The score, in the end, read 21-16, 15-21, 18-21 in Gemke's favour.

Select results

Gemke bt Sen 16-21, 21-15, 21-18; Chen bt Saina 21-9, 21-12; Liang/Wang bt Krishna Prasad/ Vishnuvardhan 21-14, 21-10; Zhang/ Zheng bt Treesa/ Gayatri 21-9, 21-16

This also means he has surrendered the title, having won it last year. "Very disappointing start in the third game, especially going 8-1 down. It is not acceptable, I could have taken a few breaks and tried something. I played well to cover up the gap but the whole game I was doing just that. In the end, it was not enough," he said. "But I tried my best to close the gap but I could have done better. This (loss) was hard to take." While Lakshya's contest was a close affair which lasted 1 hour and 21 minutes, Saina Nehwal was handed a reality check. Up against Chen Yu Fei, Saina was forced to submission with 32 minutes. The World No 3 Chinese shuttler won 21-9. 21-12.

Satwik injury

In a massive blow for India, doubles duo of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty (seeded No 5) pulled out of their doubles Round of 16 clash against Liu Yu Chen and Ou Xuan Yi of China because of an injury to Satwik. The other men's pair of Krishna Prasad Garaga and Vishnuvardhan Goud Panjala also lost. Women's doubles pair of Treesa Jolly and Gayatri Gopichand also lost to bow out.

Mayank smashes double century against Kerala

AGENCIES

MAYANK Agarwal's unbeaten double century helped Karnataka secure the all-important first innings lead against Kerala on the third day of the Ranji Trophy Group C match in Thiruvananthapuram on Thursday.

Resuming at the overnight score of 137 for 2, Karnataka captain Agarwal (208 off 360 balls) moved to his ton from 87 in quick time and took control of the proceedings, scoring the bulk of the runs. In the company of S J Nikin Jose (54), the stylish Agarwal kept the scoreboard ticking. The two put on 151 runs to keep the team in the hunt.

Jose fell to left-arm spinner Akshay Chandran (1/32) and Manish Pandey (0), one of the team's star batters, was dismissed for a first ball duck to off-spinner Jalaj Saxena (2/124) as Karnataka appeared to stutter. Agarwal, however, found an able partner in Shreyas Gopal (48 off 125 balls), and their fifth-wicket stand of 93 from 165 balls, put Karnataka back in the hunt. Gopal fell at 336 with the visiting team six runs short of Kerala's score.

Off-spinner Vaishakh Chandran (2/87) struck a big blow for Kerala by removing Agarwal, who was looking in ominous form and appeared set for a mammoth score. Sharath and Shubhang Hegde (8 batting) ensured that there was no further damage as Karnataka ended the day at 410 for 6, a lead of 68 runs.

Meanwhile in New Delhi, after getting brickbats during the early rounds, the home team are showing huge signs of improvement, with the hosts now in prime position to defeat powerhouse Mumbai in their Group B match. At stumps, Delhi had reduced Mumbai to 168 for 9 in the second innings.

GooCampus - ERTS (UK) Brings ERC accredited courses to India

For the first time in India, Bengaluru-based firm GooCampus Edu Solutions in collaboration with Emergency Response Training Solutions Limited (ERTS), UK brings European Resuscitation Council (ERC) accredited courses, starting with a first-of-its-kind 2-day classroom-based Advanced Life Support course starting from January 2023.

This course aims to train candidates to identify the causes of cardiac arrest, recognise patients in danger of deterioration, and manage both the cardiac arrest and the 'peri-arrest' problems. ALS certification tends to either be desired or mandatory in many job applications, and is considered to be essential to a doctor's career progression in the NHS.

ERTS has a faculty of highly experienced instructors who have many years of experience on the front lines of the NHS, in pre-hospital, primary/secondary care and in academia. They provide accredited and approved training programs for doctors, nurses and pre-hospital staff in the UK, Nigeria, Oman and China including both adult & pediatric courses in basic, intermediate and advanced life support courses.

GooCampus, a medical career counseling & consulting firm based in the city with almost a decade of experience, assists doctors for their medical postgraduate training in India, the UK, USA & Australia. "We are facilitating all ERTS courses in India, including the upcoming batches of their ALS course that is scheduled for March and May of 2023," said Ashwini Suryanarayana, Co-Founder & CEO.
